AEC Isolates Area Around Idaho Building; 3 Men Killed

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — A new - style nuclear reactor blew up last night, killed three men and touched off a high level deadly radiation in a building at one of America's major atomic testing stations.

The Atomic Energy Commission quickly sealed off the area and said there was no danger to other parts of the station or Idaho Falls, a city of 34,000 persons 40 miles away.

The building itself was so "radioactively hot" that only one of the three bodies could be recovered in the first nine hours after the blast.

A team of radiological experts, eerie looking in their baggy white suits with heavy protective shoes, gloves and mask, shuffled in and out of the building to inspect damage and test the radiation.

They went in one at a time and could stay only minutes. The AEC said it would send airplanes aloft to check the level and direction of radiation. A southwest wind, however, was blowing at the time and would take any radiation over barren wastelands away from populated areas.

No Others in Building
The three victims, identified only as an air force man and two army men, were operating the reactor known as "Stationary Low Power Reactor No. 1." It is a prototype of a small mobile reactor being developed for use by the army in remote areas.

The accident happened at 9:30 p. m. and the three men killed were alone in the building at the time. At least 60 are on duty there in the daytime.

It was the first fatal accident in the 11 years of operation at the National Reactor Testing Station, a major AEC installation.

It may be weeks before the AEC knows exactly what happened, but

New Pay Plan For Wisconsin

Chief Provisions Of Proposal Get Strong Support

MADISON (AP)—A new pay plan for 16,500 state employees drew approval—with qualification—Tuesday at a hearing before the State Board of Personnel. It would cost $4.5 million in the biennium.

The chief provisions of the plan call for three separate salary scales for the civil service force and upgrading of pay schedules.

While extending general approval to the plan, various state agencies indicated they would send specific recommendations to the board before the proposal is offered to the 1961 Legislature. The chief criticism came from Roy Kubista of the Wisconsin State Employees Association.

No Need for Rush

Kubista said his group would oppose certain pay schedules and classifications. He added that any effort to rush the plan to the Legislature might defeat its purpose. He said the effects of the plan should be subjected to further study. Kubista said that one ex-

Gen. Norstad Likely to Keep NATO Command

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy will retain Gen. Lauris Norstad as supreme allied commander of NATO forces in Europe, officials here predicted today.

Indications are that Norstad might stay in command at Paris for a considerable time, informants said.

Norstad is the fourth to hold the post. His predecessors were President Eisenhower, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway and Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther. Norstad replaced Gruenther in November 1956.

Kennedy appears to be in agreement with Norstad's favorite project of furnishing NATO forces with nuclear weapons. Outgoing secretary of state Christian A. Herter presented this plan to the NATO ministerial meeting last December in the form of a recommendation, without committing the United States.

U.S. Severs Diplomatic Ties With Cuba; Base Retained

President Acts After Castro Tries to Impose Limit on Havana Embassy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has broken U. S. diplomatic relations with Fidel Castro's Cuban regime, declaring "the limit has now been reached . . . to what the United States in self respect can endure."

The President said "our sympathy goes out to the people of Cuba now suffering under the yoke of a dictator."

The White House announcement of the break-off Tuesday night marked rock bottom in a downward plunge of U.S.-Cuban relations that started soon after Castro's capture of power two years ago. Castro's anti-United States attacks and his surge to the Communist camp have mounted over the months.

U. S. and Cuba Trade Charges Before Council

Wadsworth Denies War Peril, Alleges Subversion by Reds

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States and Cuba exchanged sharp accusations today in a U. N. Security Council session which had to be recessed briefly after anti-Castro demonstrations broke out in the public gallery.

The United States accused Prime Minister Fidel Castro of deliberately forcing last night's break in U.S.-Cuban relations by a strategy of harassment. It also rejected as ridiculous and hysterical Cuban charges that a U. S. invasion of Cuba is imminent.

Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa told the 11-nation council he had proof of the alleged invasion plans and said in a letter that "the government and people of Cuba are preparing to repel the invaders."

Charges Espionage
Roa said Cuba had ordered a reduction in the personnel of the U. S. embassy because "most of the staff is involved in criminal espionage, subversion and terrorist activities." It was this order that led to the U. S. decision to break relations.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth accused the Castro regime of carrying on Soviet-supported subversion throughout the Western hemisphere.

Turning to the Cuban complaint, Wadsworth said the United States would not oppose council debate even though the complaint "is totally fraudulent."

"The United States has nothing to hide and nothing to fear from these charges," he asserted.

"They are false and cannot stand the light of day. If anybody has reason to fear a debate on this situation it is the Cuban leaders themselves, who have been crying 'wolf' for the past six months over an alleged 'imminent invasion' of their country by the United States, and thereby making themselves ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

He quoted Roa's charge, made last Saturday, that a U. S. invasion was due "within a few hours."

"These are his actual words," Wadsworth said. "It is the same midnight brew, dipped from the same cauldron of hysteria. I reject categorically the ridiculous charges by the Cuban government."

Roa said 150 mercenaries a week were going from Guatemala to the U. S. Guantanamo naval base in eastern Cuba.

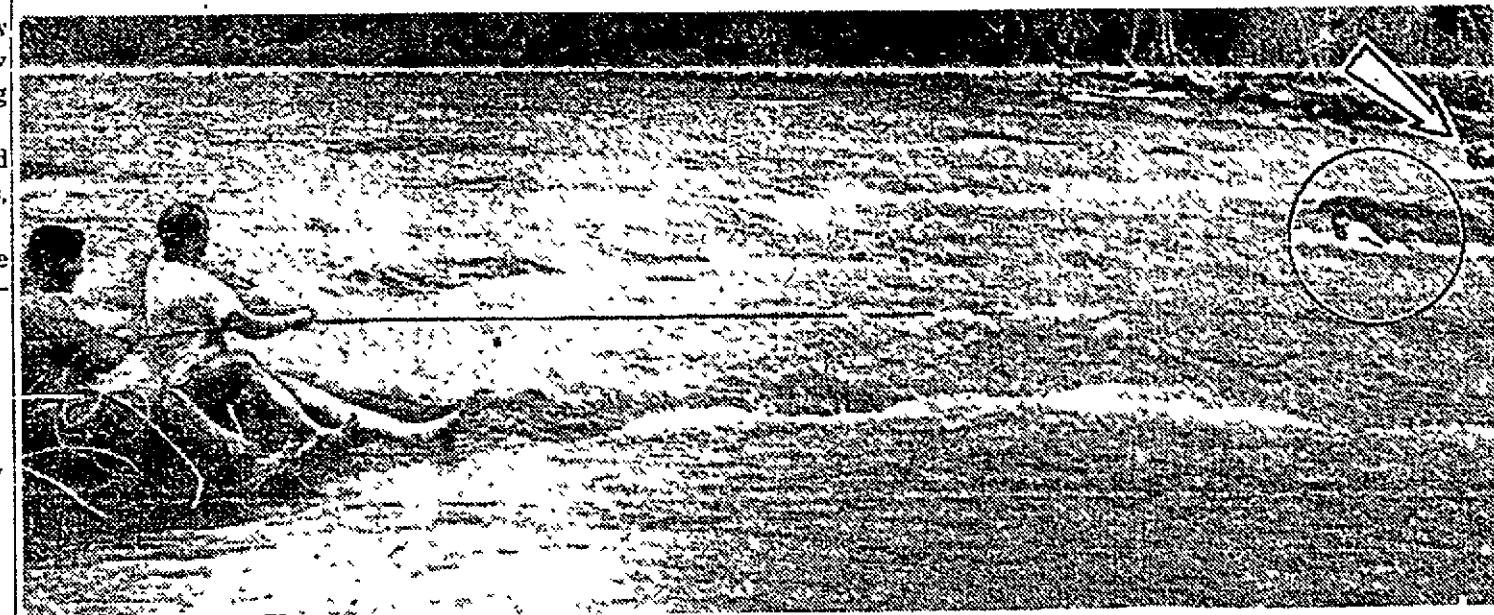

"They intend to attack a small number of cities in the Oriente Province," he said, "supported by the aviation based in Guatemala and the Isla Cisne."

Pilot Dies in Copter Crash Near Homes

MILWAUKEE (AP)—An Army helicopter returning to its hangar crashed in an open field surrounded by homes and small business firms today, killing the pilot.

The victim was Chief Warrant Officer Robert F. Pohl, 30, who lived with his wife and three children at Sussex in Waukesha County.

The single-engine, three-place craft went down in a large field on the northwest side near the Nike Installation Headquarters as it headed back to its hangar at Timmerman Field. A small fire broke out in the tangled wreckage, but the flames were put out with hand extinguishers by employees of a nearby industrial firm.

The helicopter crashed about 300 feet from the storage tanks of a gasoline and oil firm. The nearest home was about 600 feet away.

Engine Failure Seen

The identification was made by Lt. Michael Schrauth of the Nike headquarters who said that the engine may have failed as the pilot was attempting an emergency landing without power.

Pohl had gone to Hales Corners to pick up Major Royal Seward, operations training officer, and taken him to the headquarters. Pohl had delivered his passenger and was about three miles from the headquarters when the craft went down.

U. S. Alert on Laos; Hopes for Accord

Tries to Clear Way for Satisfactory Solution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States held the door open today to a satisfactory political solution to the civil war in Laos, but maintained a posture of military readiness if called upon to defend the tiny Southeast Asian kingdom.

Authorities here said there is little doubt extensive Soviet and Communist North Vietnamese participation in military operations against the royal Laos government are timed to catch the United States at a period of maximum disadvantage.

Reds Seek Advantage

The outgoing administration of President Eisenhower turns over responsibility to President-elect John F. Kennedy in a scant 16 days. Officials believe the Communists are seeking to exploit any advantage they can find in the meantime.

The State Department Tuesday put on the record the Soviet and North Vietnamese airlift of arms to Communist forces in Laos. In a statement it cited 184 observed flights by Soviet transport planes carrying war material to rebel forces.

Parachute Into Region

In addition substantial numbers of North Vietnamese military personnel were said to have been parachuted into the area.

"If we are awaiting a political solution and the Soviets are taking military steps it does not bode well for the future of Laos," snapped Chairman Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., of the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on the Far East. The congressional group was given a two-hour secret briefing by Acting Assistant Secretary of State John M. Steeves.

Zablocki predicted action by the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) if the situation worsened.

Byrnes Again Heads Party's Policy Group

WASHINGTON — Congressional Republicans today awarded Rep. John W. Byrnes, Green Bay, top honors within the party when they unanimously reelected him chairman of the powerful GOP House Policy Committee.

The action took place during a conference of all the Republican membership. No other name was suggested for the post, which will map out strategy as well as the official Republican position to be taken when the house acts on the new Kennedy administration legislative program.

This marks the second consecutive time Byrnes has held the policy-making chairmanship. During this session of the congress, however, Byrnes and his committee will formulate and initiate Republican policies as well as GOP-sponsored legislation instead of merely transmitting White House programs to the house as they did last year, under the Eisenhower administration.

Wisconsin Republican house members also reelected Byrnes as the state's representative on the Committee on Committee Assignments when they caucused today. Rep. William K. Van Pelt of Fond du Lac was elected chairman of the Republican Badger State GOP delegation; and Rep. Melvin R. Laird was reelected to represent the state on the Congressional Campaign Committee.

SEATO Council Sees Threat to Laos, Neighbors

BANGKOK (AP) — The SEATO Council today said continued Soviet and North Vietnamese aid to pro-Communist rebels in Laos will imperil the security of neighboring countries as well as threaten the integrity of Laos.

A statement issued after the two hour and 40 minute meeting said the council "noted with concern reports of increasing supply of war material by Soviet aircraft from North Viet Nam to Communist rebel elements engaged in operations against the Royal Laotian Army and the people of Laos."

'Something Came to Mind'

Former Mental Patient Confesses Fatal Shooting of Young Woman

BY CHARLES HOUSE Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MENOMINEE, Mich. — Terrence Donovan, 25, former patient of two Wisconsin mental hospitals, confessed Tuesday evening to the highway slaying of a Milwaukee bride and the wounding of her husband.

The rambling, disjointed, voluntary confession given to Sheriff Edward Reindl at 8 p. m. followed four days of dogged insistence by the suspect that he had "blacked out" and could not remember making the unprovoked attack on Mrs. Mary Jane Degnan, 21, and her husband, John, 23.

Tuesday night, however, Donovan, a life-long resident of Peshigo, summoned Reindl to his cell in Menominee County Jail, where he has been confined since his arrest shortly after the slaying early Saturday morning.

"Something came to my mind," he told Reindl, "and I want to tell you about it."

Gives No Reason

Then followed a detailed admission of guilt in which the 235-pound, part-time tavern worker disclosed no reason for the slaying.

Authorities believe that Donovan did not realize that the pretty Milwaukee woman was escorted. Her husband, dozing in the back seat of the car she was driving, could not have been seen by Donovan as he followed the Degnan car, then waved it to a halt, they said. Authorities theorize that Donovan panicked when he discovered the woman was not alone, and that he fired quickly at point blank. Mrs. Degnan died immediately. Degnan was shot in the shoulder.

Donovan said he drove his father's car through Menominee at about 60 miles an hour as he fled the scene of the crime, a mile and a half north of the city. The car skidded around three times in Menominee but was unobserved. It was at about 4 a. m. Saturday.

Speaks Calmly

The prisoner drank much milk but ate almost nothing during the four days he has been confined. He was calm and apparently relaxed as he told the details of the bizarre crime.

"I remember the night that I fired two shots at the couple in the car," Donovan said, "I was at a stop sign by Lauerman's" (a department store in Marinette, Wis.)

"It was a dark car, I would say a Ford or a Chevy, a 1960 model I was at the stop sign by Lauerman's store. Then this car that I followed had the green light. Then I heard the go sign and I followed it on the interstate bridge towards Menominee. Then again I had to stop at a stop and go light. The car that I was following was ahead of me by another stop and go light.

"Then we both went north out of Menominee. Oh, yes, I passed that (Degnan) car in the city of Menominee and I stayed ahead of it."

"Then a short way out of the city of Menominee I thought I saw a car in the ditch. I remember that I thought I saw tracks

Senate Sights Set On Social Welfare

Depressed Areas Bill Scheduled For Introduction First; Medical Care for Aged Has High Priority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leaders have started a drive to get through Congress the first of the social welfare bills President-elect John F. Kennedy has pledged to back.

No. 1 is the depressed areas bill. It was learned today that Senate Democratic leaders will give it the "S.1." ticket as the first Senate bill introduced this year.

The measure again will be offered by Sen. Paul Douglas D.Ill., and will be similar to another bill of his in the last Congress, passed by the Senate, watered down by the House, and vetoed by President Eisenhower.

Among other measures on the Kennedy list sure to follow are medical care for the aged tied to Social Security, raising the minimum wage and federal aid to schools.

Civil Rights

But before they buckle down to business both House and Senate were embroiled today in their perennial fights over matters pertaining to civil rights legislation.

In the Senate, the fight centered on a proposed rules change to make it easier to halt a filibuster—the ancient weapon of the Southerners to talk a civil rights bill to death.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., has proposed that three-fifths of the Senate—60 senators—could vote to cut off debate. At present a two-thirds majority of all present and voting is needed.

Another proposal is to cut the requirement to a simple majority of 51 senators. That is backed by Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif.

Southern senators spoke sharply against any rules change and prepared an arsenal of parliamentary moves to fight it. The new majority leader, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, said he hoped the issue could be settled this week.

In the House, Speaker Sam Rayburn and other Democratic leaders are determined to curb the power of a Southern Democratic-Republican coalition in the Rules Committee that often has blocked liberal legislation.

"The only question," said one, "is whether it is done painlessly or the hard way. It is going to be done, one way or the other."

The hard way would be to remove Rep. William Colmer, D-Miss., from the committee and replace him with a liberal. He is one of the two Southerners who vote with Republicans on the committee.

Another way would be to in-

Johnson Wins Powerful Role In Congress

Invited to Chair Democratic Policy, Caucus Sessions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The prospect he will preside over Senate Democratic policy discussions appeared today to pave the way for Lyndon Baines Johnson to play a powerful political role in the new Congress.

Johnson, who resigned as a Texas senator Tuesday, passed along his majority leadership to Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana. Johnson will become vice president Jan. 20.

Elected to the leadership post, Mansfield promptly startled the Democratic senators by announcing he will invite Johnson at times to preside over both Democratic caucuses and policy committee meetings.

Vice presidents, members of the executive branch, ordinarily don't sit in on such sessions. Vice President Richard M. Nixon rarely attended Senate Republican policy committee meetings and then only on special invitation. He never presided.

Move Upheld

An hour and a half of uproar in the closed door Democratic caucus ended in a 46-17 vote in support of Mansfield's proposal. But it left the action open to a variety of interpretations.

Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., said "the decision means that Sen. Johnson will continue as majority leader of the Senate."

Johnson did not comment publicly on the conference action. He has told friends he wants to participate as fully as possible in Democratic matters but has no intention of infringing on Mansfield's authority as majority leader.

Appointed Chief Financial Officer Of Defense Office

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles J. Hitch has written a book about economy in defense spending.

Shortly he'll get a chance to do something about it.

Yesterday President-elect John F. Kennedy appointed him chief financial officer of the defense department, which has a budget of about $40 billion a year and is the biggest spender among government agencies.

"I'm going to give it the best I have for as long as I'm needed," Hitch said last night.

Research Chief

Hitch, a 5-foot-8, 150-pounder with brown hair, will be 51 years old Jan. 9. He has been with the Rand Corp., a firm of scientific consultants, for 13 years—most recently as chief of its research council. He will sever connections with Rand before taking over as an assistant defense secretary at $20,000 a year.

"I'll entail financial sacrifice," he said, "but nothing that I can't live with."

Hitch was born and raised in Boonville, Mo., a small town on the Missouri River between St. Louis and Kansas City. He was graduated with honors from the University of Arizona and did graduate work at Harvard—the president-elect's alma mater—before taking a Rhodes Scholarship.

Never in Politics

In 1941 he was on the U.S. lend lease mission to London. Later he served with the War Production Board and three years with the Army's Office of Strategic Services.

He has never been active in politics, has never thought of seeking public office.

His book, "Economics of Defense in The Nuclear Age," was published last year. It deals with problems of stretching the defense dollar.

"My problem, as I see it, is to get the most out of what we do spend on defense," he said. "The question of how much to spend is Mr. Kennedy's problem, not mine."

Press Hunt for Negro Slasher of Young Girl

Cousin of 1960 Miss America Found Dead in 'Slaughterhouse' Bedroom

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Police today pressed a manhunt for a Negro who slashed to death a pretty young modeling student in her bedroom.

Donna Trussell, a cousin of 1960 Miss America Lynda Lee Mead, was slain just a few hours before she was to return to New York, where she was trying to launch an acting career. It was her 18th birthday.

Another cousin stumbled on the slaying Tuesday and fled in terror. Police later found Miss Trussell's nude body in her bedroom.

Like A Slaughterhouse

Her father said it "looked like a slaughterhouse."

The coroner's office said the girl died from multiple stab wounds of the chest, throat and abdomen. Capt. Myron Weysham, homicide division chief, said the killer probably was scratched on the face or neck and cut on the right thumb.

Police questioned three Negroes picked up near the scene.

Lynn Bulliard, 25, cousin of Miss Trussell, said she dropped by to wish her a happy birthday and saw her struggling with a Negro.

She said she was no more than 10 feet from the death struggle. A TV set was knocked down and a heater pulled from the wall.

"Part of her clothes were off and she was lying on the floor," military committee will meet in Ankara Jan. 24-26. Officers representing Britain, the United States, Turkey, Iran and Pakistan are expected.

House Leaders Hope to Reorganize Committee Without Drastic Purge

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democratic leaders were hopeful today that they could effect a reorganization of the powerful Rules Committee without resorting to drastic purge procedure.

They left the way open for Southerners on the receiving end of a threatened purge to save their seniority rights and their choice committee posts.

The Hard Way

But there was no doubt that Democratic leaders, under the direction of Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, were determined and apparently able to re-shuffle the Rules Committee.

"The only question," one of them said, "is whether it is done painlessly or the hard way. It is going to be done, one way or the other."

The present plan is to remove Rep. William M. Colmer, Mississippi Democrat, from the committee and replace him with a liberal. Colmer and Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., often have sided with the four committee Republicans to hold up major legislation sponsored by liberals. There are

Soviets Find Fault With U. S. Cabinet

Declare Monopoly Groups Have Key Government Posts

MOSCOW (AP)—Despite Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's new year good wishes to President-elect John F. Kennedy, the Communist party magazine Communist says Kennedy's cabinet is made up of monopoly representatives with a group of liberals thrown in "for front."

Liberals all got jobs in second-level government departments, so far," Paulo said. "All we can do is continue the investigation until every possible angle has been checked out."

Doherty was shot four times. One bullet struck him in the head, one in the arm and two in the body. Lewis died of bullet wounds in the chest and head.

Police said Doherty's body was lying on the floor in a doorway

Decisive Posts

Adlai E. Stevenson, named Kennedy's U.N. ambassador, was listed along with Williams as having a not very high post.

"The decisive posts are taken by representatives of big monopolies and monopolistic groups," Communist said. It went on:

"Secretary of state was taken by Dean Rusk, president of the Rockefeller Fund and closely connected with the family of the oil king and with the Chase Manhattan Bank."

"Secretary of the treasury was given to banker Douglas Dillon, former assistant secretary of state in the Eisenhower government. This co-owner of Dillon, Read & Co. is closely connected with the New York bankers group, especially Morgan's."

"The Middle West monopolistic group maintains the post of secretary of defense. Instead of General Motors' Wilson, the secretariat is headed by the president of Ford Motors, Robert McNamara."

"Monopolists of the southern U.S.A. are represented by Luther Hodges (former North Carolina governor) who was given the post of secretary of commerce."

The Soviet magazine added that the Kennedy appointments "brilliantly confirmed the analysis made by the Communist summit conference last November"—that "the force of monopolies unites with the force of the state for saving the capitalist system, for a maximum increase of profits."

Weekend Toll Lowest Since 1953 Holiday

CHICAGO (AP)—The New Year's weekend traffic accidents claimed 338 lives, but the toll was the lowest for a three-day New Year's holiday since 1953, when 371 traffic deaths were counted.

Fires claimed 66 lives from 6 p.m. last Friday to midnight Monday (local time), and miscellaneous accidents accounted for 78 more deaths, for an over-all accidental death toll of 482.

The National Safety Council, which had estimated 340 traffic fatalities for the extended weekend, said probably 14,000 more motorists and pedestrians suffered disabling injuries during the holiday period.

The record toll for a three-day New Year's holiday is 374, set last year. During the recent three-day Christmas holiday, 488 persons were killed in traffic accidents.

Fines to be Refunded To Negro Participants In Sit-in Displays

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Court fines from $26 to $51 will be refunded to about 40 Negroes convicted of staging sit-in demonstrations at public facilities, a city spokesman said Tuesday.

At the request of Asst. City Atty. Arthur Shea, Circuit Court judges dismissed charges against the Negroes because the facilities involved—the library, zoo, art gallery and museum—are now desegregated.

WORRY MAY HELP CAUSE TROUBLE WITH DIGESTION

The nervous system plays an important part in the process of digestion. There are two separate layers of nerves imbedded in the walls of both the stomach and the intestinal tract. These nerves control the movements, secretions, and all functions related to digestion. It is when these nerves become irritated that digestive disturbances may occur.

Worry, excitement, fatigue, or emotional disturbances tend to upset the delicate nervous mechanism and can likewise disturb digestion. You no doubt have noticed that when you try to eat under these conditions the food seems to just "lay" in your stomach.

Mechanical irritation in the spine affects the nerves in a similar manner; however, if the irritation is of long standing the tissues become diseased. Chiropractic adjustments correct the cause of many types of digestive trouble.

Police Draw Blank in Bay Twin Murder

GREEN BAY (AP) — Authorities said today they still lack a definite lead or motive in the fatal shootings of Tess Doherty, 58, and Wilbur Lewis, 48.

Doherty, a tavern operator, and Lewis were found shot to death early Tuesday. They were slain in the downtown tavern operated by Doherty. Police said Lewis apparently was a patron.

Lt. Fred Paul of the Police Department said the State Crime Laboratory entered the investigation Tuesday.

"We've drawn a complete blank so far," Paulo said. "All we can do is continue the investigation until every possible angle has been checked out."

Doherty was shot four times. One bullet struck him in the head, one in the arm and two in the body. Lewis died of bullet wounds in the chest and head.

Police said Doherty's body was lying on the floor in a doorway

Convicted Wife Killer Asks for Rehearing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—L. Ewing Scott, convicted three years ago of murdering his wife, has asked the United States Supreme Court for a rehearing on his appeal.

The high court previously rejected his appeal.

Scott's attorney, Morris Levine, Tuesday won a continuance until Feb. 21 of a probate fight over the $600,000 estate reportedly left by Scott's wife, Bel Air socialite Elizabeth Throsby Scott. A former Milwaukeean, she vanished May 16, 1955 and has never been found.

Mrs. Scott's brother, E. Raymond Throsby, seeks to admit her will to probate. It orders division of the estate between her brother and husband.

at the front of his Midtown Tavern, directly across from the Brown County sheriff's office. He had $232.50 in cash in his pockets. Lewis had only a few coins and a car key. A dollar and some coins were in the cash register. Police estimated that the shooting occurred between 10 and 10:30 p.m. Monday night.

Lawrence Says
Civil Rights
Hit in Filling Congress Seats
Uniform System
Needed to End Appointments

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — True liberals are always worried when the so-called "liberals" pass up an opportunity to advance the cause of democracy and representative government. Many days have passed with not a word from the professed defenders of liberal causes condemning three cases in which the civil rights of American citizens have just been disregarded. Here they are:

Case No. 1—In Wyoming, the people at the election last November chose a Republican to be United States Senator for a term of six years, but he died before he could be sworn in this month. Instead of providing the people of Wyoming with an opportunity in a special election within 60 days to choose a successor, the governor, a Democrat, decided to resign in favor of the Wyoming secretary of state, so that he—the governor—could be appointed to serve as United States Senator for the next two years. Under the laws of the state of Wyoming, a senator is not elected by the people to fill a vacancy until the next general election, which will be in November, 1962. The majority of the people of Wyoming, who elected a Republican to the United States Senate, have been deprived of a senator of their own party and even of the chance to elect one until two years have elapsed.

Massachusetts Switch
Case No. 2—In Massachusetts, when Sen. John F. Kennedy with four years more of his term to serve, was elected President of the United States, a Republican governor was elected the same day. Instead of letting the latter appoint the new senator to fill the vacancy, the outgoing governor, a Democrat, had a conference with Mr. Kennedy, in which the latter dictated the appointment of his crony, Benjamin Smith. By resigning before Jan. 1, Sen. Kennedy prevented the new Republican governor from making the appointment. This kind of political maneuvering is not novel, but it doesn't erase the fact that a successor to Sen. Kennedy cannot be voted on by the people of Massachusetts now for two years. When the election is held in 1962, the successful candidate will then serve for just two years. Only in 1964 will there be an election for the full six-year term. Why aren't the people of Massachusetts given an opportunity now to elect a senator for the four years remaining in Sen. Kennedy's term?

Case No. 3—Sen. Lyndon Johnson, Democrat, had his name in two places on the ballot in Texas in the election last November. He was a candidate for Vice President of the United States and at the same time a candidate for reelection to a six-year term as United States Senator. He won both elections. The Texas laws do provide for a special election within 60 to 90 days when there is a vacancy in the United States Senate.

The time is ripe for a change in this anomalous situation. This could permit the governor to make an immediate appointment to fill a vacancy, but the appointee would serve only until a special election is held within 60 days. A senator or representative then elected would serve the entire remainder of the unexpired term.

In article 1 of the Constitution, the following is provided:

"The times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to places of choosing senators."

The "civil rights" of the peoples of the various states, particularly of Wyoming and Massachusetts, could be restored by a simple act of Congress providing for a special election.

Maybe "civil rights" should be changed to read "constitutional rights," because Congress does have the power to take action to prevent a recurrence of the three cases enumerated above. It might take a constitutional amendment to insure that no man would be allowed to run for two or more offices in the same election, although the Constitution already forbids the same individual from holding office simultaneously in both the executive and the legislative branches of the federal government.

The Governor and the Airport

Gov. Nelson has acted boldly and wisely in ordering the state Department of Resource Development to study the relationship of Wisconsin's airport program — with special emphasis on airport location — to the state's need to hold and attract industry through the sensible planning of public facilities.

The governor cited the situation in Outagamie and Winnebago counties as an example of an airport location problem in which good planning and the needs of industry are involved. He asked for a special report on the Outagamie-Winnebago situation.

We are not surprised that the governor is concerned over the direction the state's airport program has been taking. For the last two years the governor and his aide, Resource Development Director David Carley, have been going about the state preaching the gospel of regional planning as an indispensable tool in making Wisconsin communities and regions attractive to industry. Yet another state agency, the state aeronautics commission, has actively opposed the establishment of regional airports, including the joint Outagamie-Winnebago facility even though it was proposed by one of the nation's top airport planning firms and was enthusiastically endorsed by several of the state's largest employers.

We do not blame the governor for being worried. Industrial development and regional planning are two of Wisconsin's crying needs today, and the adequacy of our airport system — including the proper location of airports — is becoming more and more important as air travel takes over an ever-increasing role in industry. For the state aeronautics commission to use its prestige and influence to defeat the proposal for a joint Outagamie-Winnebago airport, without even so much as holding a hearing on the matter, must have caused some scratching of heads in the executive office.

Meanwhile we cannot help wondering about the feelings of the supervisors on the Winnebago County Board who voted down the joint airport after having been told to do so by the state aeronautics commission. It is quite evident now that there is something less than unanimity in the state government on this matter. Meanwhile Winnebago county is about to commit itself to the spending of $600,000 of public monies in improving the present county airport at Oshkosh — the contracts are to be let on Jan. 16, the day before the next regularly scheduled meeting of the county board. It would seem to us that these supervisors must think seriously about their responsibility to the people, now that the chief executive officer of the state has ordered what amounts to an investigation of the whole affair.

John Mann Retires

The Post-Crescent joins the many other friends and admirers of John P. Mann in saying "Thank You" for a job well done as he leaves the Appleton school system after 16½ years as its chief.

Seven new elementary schools and a new junior high school stand as evidence of his dedication to provide the best possible physical plant for educating Appleton children. But the real measure of his service to the community is in a vastly strengthened faculty and curriculum.

It has been a pleasure to observe the school system grow and develop under Mann's tutelage and it is a demonstration of his thinking that his farewell report to the Board of Education was not a list of his accomplishments but rather recommendations on things that remain to be done.

It always has been that way with John Mann. Never satisfied to sit back and survey achievements in the school system — and there are many — he looked to the past only for its lessons in doing things even better. This constant search for perfection in the highly complex field of education which too often gets bogged down in tradition meant Appleton was in the forefront developing new ideas and techniques in preparing its future citizens to handle the problems of tomorrow.

The Post-Crescent has sometimes disagreed with Mann, but it has never doubted his sincerity and dedication to doing what is best for Appleton's children. During his time, major strides have been made in educating the gifted and handicapped, as well as the "normal" child. He has fought hard and successfully for more adequate buildings and playgrounds, for more extensive and continuing teacher training, for summer school for those who want to learn more as well as for those who want to catch up.

His efforts for community betterment have not been confined to the public school system. Mann still serves on the state Board of Public Welfare and the board of directors of Badger Boys' State. He has served on the state Human Rights Commission and the Committee on Children and Youth. The Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce has given him its outstanding citizen of the year and boss of the year awards. As superintendent, he has been a member of the Appleton Library and Vocational Education Boards.

John Mann has tried to gear today's schools to meet tomorrow's needs. He has done well by the children of Appleton. They and their parents owe him their thanks.

Presidential Press Conferences

The decision of President-Elect Kennedy to present some live TV broadcasts of his news conferences is in line with the times. Insofar as such broadcasts may help to interest people in their government it is all to the good.

All presidents have had problems with their news conferences. Some have been successful in handling questions and permitting direct quotations while others have found it so difficult that they required the reporters to credit their statements to "a White House spokesman."

President Eisenhower was about as successful as any president in handling his news conferences. He succeeded in getting his messages across and at the same time was seldom in trouble with startling statements which could be misunderstood or misinterpreted. Those who are familiar with the question and answer reports of presidential press conferences in recent years will recall that some of the statements which the president made were scarcely intelligible to the casual reader. They may have been understandable to the people in the room but very often the president used sentences so involved and so poorly constructed as to be almost meaningless when the type was cold. Nevertheless overall he did an excellent job in replying to the pertinent questions and newsmen had no difficulty in reporting the meeting correctly.

There can be no doubt but the press conference has been greatly improved during the past two decades. Many of the presidential press conferences during the Eisenhower administration were broadcast in part but the broadcasts were from tapes in all instances except one. President Eisenhower's great success with his news conferences undoubtedly should be credited to his own earnest desire to inform the people rather than to make himself look good before the public. The use of tapes for later broadcast permitted editing of the material to avoid the broadcast of any errors that might creep in. The reported plans of President-Elect Kennedy have mentioned the fact that he and his advisers are convinced that his most effective campaigning was in his TV radio debates with Vice-President Nixon. It also has been suggested that his supporters believe that TV radio news conferences might be valuable in building up his position with the public with an eye to a second term.

It may be that we are approaching the time when public officials will be expected to get before the cameras and microphones on any occasion and broadcast to the public without the usual safeguards of great advance preparation and the use of tapes. On the other hand it may be recalled that congress which has been using the Congressional Record as a showcase for its wares for a great many years still continues the right of members to edit speeches which they make on the floor before publication.

It may be that Mr. Kennedy will be able to present something better and more interesting than his predecessors and we certainly hope that proves to be the case. However, the president of the United States today has such great responsibilities and is in such a sensitive position in the conduct of foreign affairs that every word he utters is important. Thus it is unlikely that the proposed live broadcasts will become routine in the near future. It will be interesting to see how this program works out.

Blowing Off the Foam

Representative Henry Reuss was quick to spot the discrimination.

The publicity director for the inauguration ceremonies in Washington next month had announced at a press conference that sponsors of the TV and radio broadcasts were not to include such "inappropriate subjects" as girdles, laxatives, brassieres — and beer.

Congressman Reuss wrote that "the history of beer is as old as the history of Western civilization and of democratic institutions." The publicity director quickly passed the blame along and claimed that "reporters have put words in my mouth where I would rather have some good Milwaukee beer." So far no one has protested that girdles have contributed to American civilization.

Considering some of the people handling arrangements for the inaugural ball, most any sponsor would do for that. But at least Congressman Reuss struck a firm and successful blow for Wisconsin even though our electoral votes went to Richard Nixon.

A Cloud No Bigger Than a Couple of Hands

In the Meantime, Terrorism

End of Algerian War Would Speed Development of Natural Resources

WASHINGTON — Not long ago, a staff writer for the National Geographic Magazine, Howard La Fay, accompanied a troop of French commandos on a mission into the mountains of northwest Algeria. The objective was to intercept a band of nationalist rebels that had been raiding the near-by countryside. The guerrillas came into view just as darkness fell. There was a brief exchange of gunfire, then silence as the green-clad rebels slipped away into the shadows.

"It's always like this," the commando leader remarked ruefully to La Fay. "It's like trying to grab a fistful of quicksilver. But don't think it's so easy for them. Cold, hungry, short of weapons . . . Sometimes I think they're as sick of it as we are."

New Try for Peace
A new effort to end the 6-year-old Algerian war is now under way following the proposal by President Charles de Gaulle for a French referendum on setting up a provisional Algerian republic.

If peace and stability are found, the vast North African land will have opportunity to speed the development of the rich natural resources lately uncovered in its southern hinterland.

If the effort fails, the old pattern of riots and daily acts of terrorism could again cast its shadow over the lives of Algeria's 10,600,000 people.

Behind the Algerian problem lie social and economic conditions that stem from basic geographic and historical facts.

Some 90 per cent of the population is Moslem, the heritage of the long-ago Arab conquest of native Berber tribes by Koran and sword. The other ten per cent is made up chiefly of European settlers and their descendants — French, Spanish, Italian, Maltese — who migrated to Algeria during the last century and a half.

Need Unity for Prosperity
The present struggle, which began with a Moslem revolt for independence in 1954, finds the nationalists ranged against the settlers, who wish to keep Algeria under France. But opposing lines are far from clear.

Among the 450,000 French troops fighting to keep the peace are 150,000 Moslem volunteers, La Fay points out. The anticolonial nationalists have slain nine times as many Moslems as Europeans. And the settlers themselves twice have taken up arms against the Paris government in defiance of policies seeming to favor independence.

Yet once a solution is found to unite the diverse elements, a tremendous economic boom is predicted for Algeria.

This nation, more than four times the size of France, was long "considered a "have-not" area. Nearly all its chronically underfed people were crowded into the narrow farm belt along the Mediterranean. The vast mountain-and-desert expanses of the interior seemed as unproductive as the moon. Then came discoveries of oil, iron, nickel, copper, and diamonds in the Sahara wastes.

"We stand," an Algerian friend said to La Fay, "where the American West stood a century ago. Oil has just started to flow . . . We've barely scratched our enormous mineral resources. Once we pipe the natural gas of Hassi R'mel to the coast, we'll have enough cheap fuel to spark an industrial revolution."

Looking Backward

Report on Appleton Churches

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Jan. 5, 1861.

The Methodist Church, located in the First Ward, is sufficiently spacious for the city at present. Including the roomy gallery, this church will seat 600 persons. At present, the Rev. P. S. Bennett presides as pastor, and, we believe, gives pretty general satisfaction. The church has a membership of about 250.

The Congregational Society has a very good looking edifice. Including the gallery, 650 persons can be seated in it. Its membership is something over 100 persons. The Rev. F. B. Doe is pastor, and, so far as we can learn, is well liked by his congregation.

In our opinion, the Baptist Church is a better looking structure than either of the two mentioned. It is capable of seating 450. We believe Rev. Mr. Hamilton still retains the pastorate, but will not be positive. The membership is quite small, there being about 35 members.

The Catholic Church in the Third Ward is well finished and withal, a good proportioned edifice. The membership we have not been able to ascertain. The church can seat 500 persons without difficulty. The Rev. Mr. Dael, who for a long time was located at Fond du Lac where he was much beloved by his congregation, is pastor.

The Methodist Church has a melodion, and the remaining three have organs, and allowing us to judge, good ones. Also, the several choirs are passable.

When we take into consideration the fact that Appleton is but in her youth, we can but conclude the above a much better exhibit than could have been expected 10 years ago.

25 YEARS AGO
Wednesday, Jan. 1, 1936
New-born 1936 romped onto the scene—his birthday marred by many a splitting headache but his future a glow of rosy promise. Business leaders joined public officials in predicting notable improvements in the coming year. Celebrants slumbered after one of the maddest New Year's greetings since the boom years.

The peal of New Year's bells had hardly ceased to echo before the New Deal threw the throttle wide open in a 1936 drive to push an abbreviated program through a brief congressional session and then carry an aggressive fight to its foes in the presidential campaign.

Events leading to construction of a $700,000 sewerage disposal system in Appleton, starting with revival of the problem throughout the valley in March and continuing through the remainder of the year as the city took step after step toward actual construction, probably occupied more front page space and held public interest for a longer period in 1935 than any other local news.

Under the Capitol Dome

Concerning Women And Political Offices

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The news dispatches covering the inauguration of elective state officials made much of the fact that the oath of office was taken, for the first time, by a woman elected to state constitutional office.

Mrs. Dena Smith, a 60-year-old widow from Milwaukee, today is installed again at the desk in the state treasurer's office which she occupied for an appointive term a couple of years ago, and lost in the elections of 1958. There have been some suggestions that this incident may show a change of the tacit "men only" rule for the construction of political party tickets in Wisconsin.

Wyngaard

The conclusion may be a hasty one, for a number of reasons.

First, Mrs. Smith is by way of being a political professional, one of a handful of her sex in Wisconsin who can be so classified. She has been in politics in a reasonably prominent capacity for more than 20 years, as the constant campaigning companion of her late husband when he held the treasury office, and lately on her own. Her feat, therefore, can not safely be interpreted as proving that other women can run successfully in the future.

AND AGAIN

Mrs. Smith, moreover, ran successfully against an incumbent who was the last effective campaigner on the Democratic slate, who had managed to preserve his anonymity during two years in the office, and who was not regarded as any special asset by his own party organization. Defeating him, under the circumstances, was something less than an achievement than any other Democratic aspirant last fall.

Finally, the office is a comparatively minor one about which few rank and file voters know a great deal. For those who are more critically informed on the nature of state government and its operations there is a tendency to write off the state treasurer's position — because it is so hemmed in with statutory restrictions and controls and because its duties have been so reduced and circumscribed over the years that it would be hard for the most resolute incumbent to do any real damage there.

It may be that Mrs. Smith's little triumph means a new role for women in Wisconsin political life, but it remains to be more fully demonstrated.

Whether there is or is not a reservation among voters about members of the fair sex in politics cannot be surely known until there are more examples. Women running for office remain very few, even for the lesser offices. In the fall elections this correspondent can recall off-hand only one female legislative nominee. She lost, but it would be hard to prove that a man would have performed better in the same situation.

Women have not succeeded in Wisconsin elective politics, perhaps, for about the same reason that this chronicler has not — they have not tried.

Politics as a career for women evidently is not yet accepted by the women themselves. The result is that when an occasional woman does offer herself on the ballot there is a strangeness about the business that makes her conspicuous because of her identity — rather than her qualities and points of view and purposes.

While the comparative infrequency of female candidates continues, it will also be difficult for the occasional female occupant of public place. There is nothing lonelier for a woman than membership in a state legislature run by men accustomed to have any but men as seat-mates. One may guess that the occasional woman sheriff — under the subterfuges that have arisen through the constitutional limit on their husband's tenure — find some awkward moments in the performance of their tasks.

Theater Manager Keeps Monkey Out

From The Wyoming State Tribune

Sometimes, reading the news, it appears the monkeys are taking over. There are pictures of them as space pioneers, and that hilarious publicity stunt of replacing humans in factory productions. London, however, has jarred the monkey world right back on its heels or paws or whatever. A theater patron showed up with a chimp as a companion and bought two tickets. Said the manager, "That animal can't go in." So out went the animal, blue and white evening jacket and all.

Scientists Fail To Measure All Values of Coffee

From The Ottawa Canada Journal

Canadian Nutrition Notes reports the finding of United States scientists that the stimulation given by a cup of coffee continues for about 2½ hours and additional cups of coffee within that period will give little or no added stimulus.

What this proves we are not quite sure but the research authorities said that there are variations in this "tipping time table." This presumably means that some people for efficiency require coffee every hour and others may last the day on a cup.

The real kernel of the report, we thought, was in the statement of the scientists that their findings "did not attempt to measure other values one might receive from a coffee break." When they established the stimulation value of a good gossip or the restorative merits of a football game post-mortem, then the importance of the coffee cups can be brought into focus.

Compact Cars Having Effect On Tax Take

Excise and Gasoline Funds Shared by Governments Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—A growing parade of compact economy cars on American highways may make it more difficult for federal and state governments to balance their budgets and finance new roads.

Because the new small cars cost less initially, Uncle Sam's take from the 10 per cent auto excise tax already has been hurt. And since the compacts burn less gasoline, both federal and state governments are finding that their collections from gas taxes are suffering.

Dollar Impact

The dollar impact hasn't been great enough yet to cause much howling. However, projections by the bureau of roads and by a major oil company indicate the developing trend will be an important factor within five years.

The Sun Oil Co., Philadelphia, estimates that by 1965 passenger cars will burn 33 billion gallons of gas less a year than would be the case if all were of standard size.

"This means $330 million which the tax collectors will not get per year," the Sun study concludes. Of this amount, Uncle Sam would lose about $130 million.

Sun, which foresees an even greater impact after 1965, says its estimates are conservative.

Bureau of Roads

The Bureau of Roads has estimated that gasoline consumption may be cut by 10 to 20 billion gallons because of compacts during the 1960's, with the reductions mounting year after year. However, the bureau says the picture isn't entirely one-sided. Without the compacts, it says, Americans might buy fewer cars and drive them fewer miles.

For a significant number of families, for example, the economy of the compacts is making it possible to own two cars when, in other circumstances, they would get along with one.

Other Factors

A number of other factors also will work to increase gasoline consumption despite the new fuel-saving autos. These include the trend toward a shorter work week, giving Americans more time for travel; increased annual incomes and the migration to the suburbs where families are more dependent on autos.

In the first nine months of 1960, auto excise collections were up less than one-fourth of one per cent over January-September 1959 while the number of cars on which these taxes were paid increased about 8½ per cent.

These figures suggest that the first compacts—now 30 per cent of the new car market—hurt excise collections by about $90 million during the nine months. However, the loss probably wasn't that great because some Americans bought compacts instead of used cars on which no excise tax is levied.

Cigarette May Have Started Home Blaze

Firemen put out blazing hay around the foundation of a home under construction at 508 W. Linbergh St. about 1:15 p.m. Monday afternoon. Damage to the foundation was slight.

Firemen speculated that the blaze may have started from a carelessly tossed cigarette butt. Builder of the home is contractor Ted Fischer.

New $3 per ounce clear, colorless liquid anti-perspirant. Stops heavy perspiration. Completely safe for normal skin, delicate fabrics. Yours at no additional cost with each jar of Esoterica.

Weathered brown spots on the surface of your hands and face tell the world you're getting old — perhaps before you really are. Fade them away with new ESOTERICA, that medicated cream that breaks up masses of pigment on the skin, helps make hands look white and young again. Equally effective on the face, neck and arms. Not a cover-up. Acts in the skin — not on it. Fragrant, greaseless base for softening, lubricating skin as it helps clear up those blemishes. Use daily as a hand cream — as a facial night cream, or make-up foundation. For lovelier skin, try new Esoterica!

8 Newcomers Join Senate Ranks

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—Here are thumbnail sketches of the new-comers to the senate which convened Tuesday as the 87th Congress.
J. Caleb Boggs, 51, a Republican elected to the Senate from Delaware after two 4-year terms as governor. The only Senate newcomer to unseat an incumbent in the Nov. 8 elections, he defeated Democrat J. Allen Frear Jr. Boggs, a lawyer, served three terms in the House (1947-53). Spoke out against federal encroachment on states' rights and charged Truman administration with creeping socialism. However, a Republican elected a month earlier to Senate seat from which veteran Democrat Joseph C. O'Mahoney retired. A quiet, unassuming roly-poly lawyer, Hickey is a stickler for economy in government. Associates have called him more conservative than most Republicans.

Heads Two Banks
Edward V. Long, 52, a Missouri Democrat, was appointed to the Senate last September after the death of Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr., and then won election Nov. 8. A lawyer, Long has been active both in politics and business. He has served as a prosecuting attorney, a city attorney and a state senator. He is president of two banks and several loan companies and life insurance companies. He also owns a 1,600-acre farm. He is a past director of Rotary International.
Lee Metcalf, 49, new Democratic senator from Montana, spent most of his adult life in public service—in the Montana Legislature, in the Army during World War II, and as an associate justice of the Montana Supreme Court before his election to the House in 1953. In the House he was active in the liberal Democratic group and urged action to elip the power of the House Rules Committee. In the Senate he succeeds James E. Murray, another Democratic veteran who didn't seek re-election.
Jack Miller, 44, a Republican, won a Senate seat from Iowa by defeating Democratic Governor Herschel Loveless. He has been a state senator since 1956 and before that was a member of the Iowa House. A tax lawyer specializing in farm tax problems, Miller once headed the American Bar Association's committee on tax problems of farmers. In 1946-47 he was an attorney in the Internal Revenue Service's chief counsel's office. He succeeds Republican Senator Thomas E. Martin, who did not seek re-election.
Woman Senator
Maurine Neuberger of Oregon gives the Democrats a woman senator to balance off the Republicans' Margaret Chase Smith of Maine. In the Senate Mrs. Neuberger will take the seat held by her husband, Richard L. Neuberger, who died last March. A slender, friendly woman, Mrs. Neuberger was a school teacher before her marriage in 1945. She and her husband worked closely together in politics and at one time were both members of the Oregon Legislature.
Claiborne de Borda Pell, 42, Rhode Island's new Democratic senator, succeeds a man more than 50 years his senior, Theodore Francis Green, 93. A Newport socialite and a former foreign service officer, Pell defeated two ex-governors to win the Democratic nomination. He speaks French, Portuguese and Italian and has been active in behalf of refugees and increased immigration quotas. His father was a House member from New York and altogether he counts four members of Congress and a vice president among his ancestors.

Benjamin A. Smith II, 43, takes over the Senate seat of President-elect John F. Kennedy. A close friend and former Harvard roommate of Kennedy's, Smith was appointed to fill out two of the four remaining years of Kennedy's term. A Democrat, Smith is a former mayor of Gloucester, Mass., where he is president of fish product companies and a box factory. Like Kennedy, he served as a naval lieutenant in the Pacific during World War II.

Wednesday, January 4, 1961 Appleton Post-Crescent A6
Researchers Probe for Pleasant Temperatures
MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—How hot a hotfoot can the little woman take while she's slaving over a hot stove?
Kansas State University is trying to find out in experiments designed to find the range of temperature at which most people are comfortable. The researchers strap a thermocouple harness on the subject to measure body surface temperature at 17 points.
"Air temperature, air movement and floor temperature are controlled in the conditioning room," explained an instructor. The results will be used by designers of panel heated buildings.

U. S. Cuts Diplomatic Relations With Cuba

Washington-Havana ties for the first time since America's fighting men had freed Cuba from Spain at the turn of the century.

Studied Insult Seen

The last straw snapping Washington's forbearance policy was Castro's demand, delivered to the U.S. Embassy in Havana early Tuesday that all but 11 of the U.S. diplomats get out of Cuba within 48 hours.

American authorities from Eisenhower down saw this as a calculated insult. They figured the U.S. Embassy could hardly operate with only 11 men—fewer than the number of guards alone needed for the 10-story embassy building.

Repercussions spread widely from the break-off.

In Havana the ranking U. S. diplomat, Charge d'Affaires Dan

Braddock, and 10 of his top aides planned to remain a few days to take care of pending matters and transfer the care of U. S. relations to Swiss Ambassador Walter Rossi. Other members of Braddock's staff were boarding a ferry sailing today for West Palm Beach, Fla.

Cuban diplomats in this country likewise were under expulsion because of the break. State Department officials said these totaled about 100, including about 10 at the Cuban Embassy in Washington and 90 at 13 Cuban consulates in other cities throughout the United States.

Castro named the Communist Czechoslovak Embassy to handle future Cuban dealings in Washington.

Many Accusations

Castro's two years of anti-American activity had been highlighted by free-wheeling accusations, growing intimacy with the Communist bloc including acceptance of arms aid and seizure of about a billion dollars worth of U.S.-owned property in Cuba.

Washington has reacted slowly. It repeatedly denied Castro's charges, protested his growing involvement with the Reds, withdrew economic aid, and finally ended U.S. purchases of Cuban sugar and banned shipment of American goods to Cuba.

The American Embassy staff had been kept on in Havana to hold open a channel of communication with the Castro regime, to report to Washington Cuban developments and to grant visas to Cubans wanting to come to the United States.

1,500 Visas Monthly

U.S. officials believe Castro was angered by the U.S. reporting and by the heavy flight of Cubans to Yankeland.

The U.S. Embassy had been granting about 1,500 visas a month. About 50,000 Cubans seek to leave for America. The visa service was suspended Tuesday.

U.S. authorities were considering a means of treating future Cuban arrivals in this country as refugees, processing them for temporary admission after they get here.

President's Statement

Here is the text of a statement issued by President Eisenhower last night:

"Between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning, the government of Cuba delivered to the United States charge d'affaires ad interim of the United States embassy in Havana a note stating that the government of Cuba had decided to limit the personnel of our embassy and consulate in Havana to 11 persons.

"Forty-eight hours was granted for the departure of our entire staff with the exception of 11. This unusual action on the part of the Castro government can have no other purpose than to render impossible the conduct of normal diplomatic relations with that government.

"Limit Reached"

"Accordingly, I have instructed the secretary of state to deliver a note to the charge d'affaires ad interim of Cuba in Washington which refers to the demand of his government and states that the government of the United States is hereby formally terminating diplomatic and consular relations with the government of Cuba. Copies of both notes are being made available to the press.

"This calculated action on the part of the Castro government is only the latest of a long series of harassments, baseless accusations, and vilification. There is a limit to what the United States in self respect can endure. That limit has now been reached.

"Our friendship to the Cuban people is not affected. It is my hope and my conviction that in the not too distant future it will be possible for the historic friendship between us once again to find its reflection in normal relations of every sort. Meanwhile our sympathy goes out to the people of Cuba now suffering under the yoke of a dictator."

The first wave of departing diplomats and other Americans was expected this afternoon.

An unusually courteous note from the Cuban government, however, suggested there was no need for haste. It pledged the "most absolute guarantees" of safety for all American citizens—residents, tourists and diplomats alike.

It further emphasized the amenities by offering "in concordance with the norms of international right, every kind of facility" for the removal of the embassy's office equipment and other property.

No Rush to Leave

The American colony in Cuba is estimated at between 500 and 2,000. The embassy urged all to leave unless they have "compelling reasons" to remain.

There was no immediate rush of agitated Americans to the embassy, however, and many were expected to remain in Cuba. Several small American businesses have escaped the nationalization that has wiped out most of the billion-dollar American investment in Cuba. A number of Americans still here are married to Cubans and have lived here for years.

A dozen or so Americans are in jail on various charges, awaiting determination of their cases. Several others are serving prison sentences.

Eight correspondents for news services, newspapers or magazines are among those remaining.

Most of the Americans in Cuba had expected the break in relations for some time. The bulk of the American colony already had left, because they had lost their businesses.

It seemed inevitable that the break would heighten Castro's pressure for a termination of the U.S. lease on the Guantanamo naval base on the southeast coast.

New Pay Plan For Wisconsin

ample needing clarification pertains to conservation wardens and forest rangers. Classifying them as professional employees, he said, would mean their loss of $40 a month overtime.

The departments of Public Instruction, Public Welfare, Agriculture, Conservation and Motor Vehicles indicated they would ask certain changes in the plan.

Separate Schedules

The plan would establish separate salary schedules covering professional and managerial workers, craft and labor employees, and general classification workers. The state now has only one general salary range for all employees.

The board said the plan would also boost sick leave time from the present 60 days to 90, incorporate monthly cost-of-living bonuses currently amounting to $31 with basic salaries and give workers a payday every two weeks instead of once a month.

Reports Membership

MADISON (AP)—The State Bar of Wisconsin said today its active members on Dec. 31, 1960 numbered 5,260 and its inactive members 1,575. The membership includes 109 judges, all residents of Wisconsin.

Former Mental Patient Confesses Fatal Shooting of Young Woman

read the shooting was on. I remember crossing a railroad track.

Speeds, Rests Nerves

"Then, while in Menominee, I skidded the car and turned around several times as I was going about 60 miles an hour. This happened by the packing plant. Then I crossed the Hattie Street Bridge. Then I parked in Twin Hills (a deserted 'lover's lane' area between Menominee and Peshtigo).

"Then I rested a while, rested my nerves. Then about 4:30 or 5 p.m. I drove my father's car back seat — I mean the front window. He was leaning forward.

"Then I fired. I don't know at which one first. Then I fired a second shot right off. I remember one of them saying 'oh!' just like if you were getting the wind knocked out of you.

"Then I ran to my car. My motor was running. I had the emergency brake on.

"I went north about a quarter or a half mile, then turned left. I came back on a black top road, and I came back to the same place where I shot the young woman.

Q. Why did you shoot these people?

A. I don't know. And I am very sorry this happened.

Q. Are you glad the man (Donovan) is still living?

A. I am very glad. I wish she was living also.

The confession was signed "Terry Donovan" in handwriting like that of a small boy.

Charged With Murder

Donovan is charged with first degree murder. He was arraigned before justice Emil E. Ewald Saturday. Preliminary examination has been tentatively set for 10 a.m. Friday in Menominee Municipal Court.

Prosecuting attorney Russell W. Bradley indicated that Donovan will be sent to Newberry State Hospital for psychiatric tests to determine if he is mentally competent to stand trial, and possibly to determine if he was sane at the time of the shooting.

In the Donovan home were discovered nine pistols, fully loaded, identified as stolen from a Peshtigo surplus store in 1958. During that robbery, some 20,000 rounds of ammunition were stolen also.

Has Many Guns

Donovan possessed 14 handguns and also rifles and shotguns. In 1953 Donovan was charged with assaulting a 13-year-old Peshtigo girl and was committed to Winnebago State Hospital for mental observation. The commitment was extended twice and two years later a jury found Donovan innocent by reason of temporary insanity.

Potential For Breakdown

He was sentenced to two to three years in Wisconsin State Reformatory. Though his behavior was reported good, Donovan in May, 1957, suffered "a crack-up" according to authorities, and was transferred to Central State Hospital at Waupun for mental observation.

Pronounced "competent," he was returned to the reformatory four months later. He was paroled from the reformatory in November, 1957.

The 1955 report by the advisory committee of Central State Hospital said that Donovan "certainly has the potentialities for another breakdown such as suffered at the time of the attack."

Radiation Set Off by Blast

a spokesman said it apparently was a chemical explosion.

About 4,500 permanent employees work at the station west of here and the AEC said it planned no changes in their schedules today.

The engine for America's first atomic submarine was developed at the site and tests are now being conducted there on a variety of projects, including the power plant for an atomic airplane.

Five years ago the nearby village of Arco, Idaho, was lighted for several hours on a July night by power from a station reactor in a demonstration in advance of an international atomic conference in Geneva.

The radiological crew members pieced together this picture of the explosion:

The experimental reactor, being developed as a portable source of electric power and heat for the armed forces, apparently "blew its top."

The reactor and the boiling water in which it is immersed are housed in a metal shell which was not penetrated. This is capped by a metal cover through which fuel and control rods run to reach the enriched uranium core of the reactor.

The reactor is housed in the basement, where the explosion apparently occurred, a main floor and an attic. The blast did not appear to have penetrated above the basement. The exterior of the building was not damaged.

Girl's Ring Found on Edge of Ice

Waukesha (AP)—Seventeen-year-old Korinne Wellner's ring was found Tuesday at the edge of the gaping hole in the ice of Little Muskego Lake where she and two companions drowned Monday night when the auto in which they were riding sank in 20 feet of water.

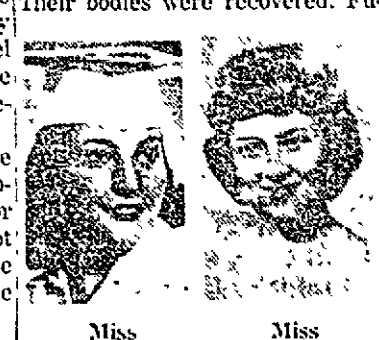

Police said Miss Wellner, of Milwaukee, apparently was within inches of saving her life when she slipped back into the icy depths. Repeated attempts by skin divers have failed to recover her body.

The three youths with the girls escaped from the convertible as it broke through the ice. The car was raised Tuesday night.

Helen DeStrampe, 17, and Jean Marie Hammernik, 20, also of Milwaukee, were the other victims. Their bodies were recovered. Funeral services for Miss DeStrampe will be held Saturday and those for Miss Hammernik on Friday.

Dist. Atty. Roger Murphy of Waukesha County said he believed an inquest will be held later this week.

The youths who escaped are Dale Olson, 20, and Roger Holz, also 20 and both of Muskego, and Miss Hammernik's brother, Jerry, 16. Olson remained hospitalized with shock Tuesday.

Ex-Movie Producer Found Dead at Home

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ex-movie producer Robert C. Sherwood (no relation to the late playwright Robert Sherwood), has been found dead in his Sunset Strip apartment. Sheriff's deputies say he evidently shot himself in the head.

Sherwood, 50, had moved out of his home Sunday after a quarrel with his wife, officers said.

Liberals Find Policy 'Door' Locked Tight

Blocked in Attempt To Gain Greater Voice in Matters

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic liberals found the door locked today against their proposal to gain a greater voice in party policy matters.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., had prepared for a caucus of all Democratic senators a proposal to fill by direct election vacancies on the party policy and steering committees.

No Vacancies

But to the surprise of nearly all concerned it developed in advance of the conference that there are no vacancies on the policy group. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, then the majority leader, filled them by appointments last summer.

Liberals had believed there were vacancies caused by the death of Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr., D-Mo., and the retirement of Theodore Francis Green, D-R.I., at noon yesterday.

But it was learned that Green resigned from the policy group last summer. At the time, Sens. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., and John O. Pastore, D-R.I., were named to the policy group. Neither is identified with insurgent liberals who criticized Johnson's leadership in the past.

Left Up In Air

This left up in the air Gore's resolution, which was directed only at filling any policy committee vacancies, unless he chose to propose election of a full new committee or directed it at future vacancies.

The policy group schedules legislation for senate consideration. The steering committee, on which three vacancies exist, makes assignments of members to vacancies on standing senate committees. It has nothing to do with policy.

Business Officials To Speak at Meeting Of Bank Association

MADISON (AP)—Views on Wisconsin's business prospects in 1961 will be aired by officials of several large state firms during the 32nd mid-winter conference in Milwaukee of the Wisconsin Bankers' Association Jan. 23-24.

The association said today it expected 1,000 bankers, their wives and guests for the conference.

Key speakers will be George Romney, president of American Motors Corp.; Sam Fleming, vice president of the American Bankers' Association; and Herbert V. Prochnow, executive vice president of the First National Bank, Chicago.

Charlie Sends Birthday Present To Unknown Eskimo Youngster

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Some time this week a sort of a friend of mine will get a small but useful present from me, and he will not be surprised even though he lives in the Eskimo village of Tanunak on an island in the Bering Sea.

Tanunak is an ancient home of Alaska's most primitive Eskimos. It is bleak, uncompromising and ugly. Almost surrounded by trackless tundra, it is colorless except for a lazy, silt-laden stream which flows past the front door of the village. There is nothing much to be seen except snow, sphagnum moss and muck.

But it has been my custom to send a birthday present to this sort of a friend of mine, a young person I have not even met. I do not know if my young friend is a boy or a girl and perhaps I never shall know, because there has never been a note of thanks or acknowledgement of the annual gifts I send. Nevertheless, I don't care.

Visits Village

In 1951, I visited Tanunak and lived with the Eskimos there for a time long enough to get to know them well, and to become special friends with an Eskimo man named something like Nonyianuk.

These Tanunakians are a wonderfully sensitive people — shy, affectionate and extremely kind. They are primitive in that they have not been exposed to the white man. Perhaps, too, that is why they are kind; white man's avarice is catching.

As Eskimo villages go, Tanunak is large. During my stay there, the population was 112, including a white teacher, an employee of the Alaska native service.

Don't Plan Ahead

It is the duty of the teacher to instruct the Eskimos in the art of taking care of themselves, to learn something of the English language and to try to combat a notorious Eskimo failure—the lack of planning ahead.

I once observed a Tanunak Eskimo chopping driftwood for his fireplace, but the hour was 3 a.m. Later, I asked him if he did not think it a strange hour to do this. He said he did not because he had run out of kindling and his house was getting cold.

I suggested that it would be a very good idea if he would chop enough wood in the summertime to take care of the entire winter-time. And his answer was typical.

Might Not Need It

"Eskimo," he said, "not do such thing."

"Why not?" I asked.

"Because," he said, as though explaining it to a child, "Eskimo might not need wood."

"But of course you will," I said, trying to convince him. "The winter is always cold and you know you will have to have wood and you also know that you will have to chop it."

"No," he said, "Eskimo might not need. Eskimo might die."

Such a fatalistic observation is normal. Even though the Eskimos do a great deal to acquire and prepare food to last them the winter, very few of them ever "lay in" enough. Most of them starve a little the last month of winter.

Make Own Fun

Tanunak is about 120 miles from Bethel, the nearest civilized community but only a few of the villagers have ever visited there. Such a trip is made by kayak, and over many hundreds of miles of serpentine streams which interlace with each other and make the route difficult to find.

Instead of hankering to go to the motion pictures at Bethel (admission price is one salmon), the villagers make their own fun. Gay games, like blanket toss, are used to make up their recreation time. They are fond of visiting other villages when the weather is not too severe.

Wednesday, January 4, 1961 Appleton Post-Crescent A14

When I reached Tanunak by plane, the villagers gave me a wonderful welcome because they like company. They are somewhat shy, but a visitor from the outside is always welcome and their hospitality is boundless. The plane I rode was one which brought mail and supplies three times annually.

Gets No Privacy

The Eskimos turned over what they call "the men's house" but gave me almost no privacy. All night long they dropped in to "visit" or simply to look at me and grin in a friendly way. And when I got out my portable typewriter and began to write, the whole village took turns peeping in the door at me. Most of them can speak a little English, but only a few had more than a scant few phrases.

Eskimos usually use two names. One is their own and almost impossible for the Anglo-Saxon tongue, like Getichigamut, Illulit and Achagagumut. The other name is one usually given them by white people, for reasons of pronunciation and identification.

Often such names are descriptive of the particular Eskimo, and often they are ludicrous, too. For example, I remember one Eskimo man named Clark Gable and an Eskimo woman named Myrna Loy. I met one named Jennie Wolfskin, and Jennie always wore wolf fur. I met one named Billy Friendly, and he was friendly, too. There was a Minnie Moonface whose face was as round as a moon, and I met many men named Sig Wien. Wien is a pioneer flier of Alaska and is widely liked.

Named Millie Necks

I met one young woman named Millie Necks and I couldn't think why Millie should be so named because her neck was like other necks. Then I discovered the reason: Millie had once lived next to an American army camp and she learned a thing or two.

My best friend there, as I have said, was a young man named Nonyianuk. It happened that, during my stay, Nonyianuk was soon to become a father. As an indication of our friendship, he suggested that when the baby was born he would name it an Eskimo name but then he would give it a white man's name — mine. He pronounced Charles House as "Kerl Sess."

I, however, decided that it might not be well for the world to have a Charles House running around near the Arctic Circle, and I suggested another name, a more musical one. Nonyianuk agreed, and it is to that child that I send my annual birthday present on about the approximate date of its birth.

On the package, I address it as always, to "Milwaukee Wisconsin." That's the name.

Order Sewer Plan For Industrial Park

Specifications for Lift Station to Be Prepared for 1961 Construction

A major step toward the development of Appleton's Industrial Park was taken by the street and sanitation committee Tuesday when it approved preparation of plans for the installation of sewers and a lift station for the park.

The plans and specifications, to be prepared by the engineering department, will include sanitary sewers, a lift station, storm sewers and streets.

The specifications will be sent to the street and sanitation committee for inclusion in the 1961 construction program. They are to include provisions for facilities large enough for all other areas not now directly assessable but which may be affected by the proposed installations.

During discussion of the proposal, one alderman pointed out, "These industrial sites are no good unless the facilities are available. If a firm wants to build a plant they don't want to wait for sewer and water."

Estimated Cost

The lift station would cost an estimated $80,000.

The sewage system is expected to influence prospective buyers of the industrial sites. The city so far has invested about $200,000 for 131 acres to create the park. It is located west of Perkins Street on land crossed by the Soo Line and Chicago and North Western Railway.

Firms which have expressed interest in the land are Appleton Manufacturing Co., Peerless Paint Co., Tuttle Press Co., Appleton Coated Paper Co., Appleton Wire Works Corp., Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. and J. Golper and Co.

The land was completely annexed to the city and zoned for heavy industry by the City Council Dec. 7, 1960.

Fined for Bad Conduct After Building Entry

Raymond H. Wolff, 26, 537 1/2 N. Appleton St., was fined $25 in Municipal Court for disorderly conduct. The charge stemmed from what was thought to be an attempted break-in at Zeh Motor Sales, 1724 W. Wisconsin Ave., shortly after 1 a.m. Tuesday.

Police were called by an employee who heard something in the building. Police found no one in the building, but discovered Wolff a short distance away, walking. A companion was discovered in Wolff's car nearby.

Wolff told police he had been drinking and did not enter the car firm to take anything.

Ask U.N. to Condemn Acts 'Against Cuba'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today called on the United Nations Security Council to "condemn the acts of international piracy by the United States against Cuba."

The Soviet statement claimed that "imperialist circles in the United States are clearly making use of the last weeks of the Republican government to implement their dirty intrigues against Cuba."

Judge Appoints Acting D.A. in 'Paca County

Johnson to Serve While Tom Browne Is Incapacitated

WAUPACA — Richard Johnson, special prosecutor in the Garvin Gilham murder trial and former Waupaca County district attorney, has been appointed acting district attorney because of the illness of Dist. Atty. Tom A. Browne.

Browne was hospitalized Tuesday morning. Circuit Judge Herbert Bunde appointed Johnson during the day.

Johnson said, "I look to this appointment only as temporary during Mr. Browne's illness."

Browne was elected district attorney in November. He took his oath of office Friday. He replaced Gerald Anderson, who did not stand for reelection.

Johnson was district attorney from 1951 to 1954. He served two terms as Waupaca city attorney. A member of the Waupaca County Bar Association for 20 years, Johnson recently completed a 10-year tenure as association president.

Sues New York Attorney General

NEW YORK (AP) — The publisher of the best-selling book "How I Made Two Million Dollars in the Stock Market" has started a federal court action against New York state's attorney general charging he violated the publisher's constitutional rights.

"Trial by publicity" is alleged by Milton A. Bass, attorney for the American Research Council, the publisher.

The action was filed under the civil rights law yesterday immediately after state supreme court Justice Henry Epstein threw out a case instituted by Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz.

Epstein ruled that Lefkowitz' move to investigate the book written by professional dancer Nicholas Darvas was "an unwarranted invasion of the free press."

Rural Kaukauna Appeals Conviction For Drunken Driving

Zittlow was convicted Dec. 24 Village Atty. Urban Van Susteren claims Zittlow's appeal request was filed after the statutory time limit.

Zittlow was arrested by County Patrol Sgt. George Else when Zittlow's car stalled on Buchanan Street after it sideswiped a car on Buchanan Street the night of Dec. 23.

Police Locate Missing Items, Start Housekeeping Drive

Police Chief Walter J. Hendricks, who early in December asked the city council to approve a wire cage for equipment in the department's garage, says several missing items have been located.

Not at all

During the committee meeting on whether to cage, one alderman told the chief he ought to look into what was going on if something was missing. Hendricks says all the things he wanted to do was to keep the garage orderly and make sure the men in the garage were individually responsible for keeping the place picked up.

During the meeting, Hendricks said that a ladder and some tow chains were missing. An alderman

Kennedy Confers With McNamara

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy flies to New York today to confer with his defense chief, Robert S. McNamara, against the critical background of broken Cuban-U.S. relations.

Plans for the Kennedy meeting with the secretary of defense-designate were announced in advance of the Eisenhower administration's severing of diplomatic relations with the Fidel Castro regime. But that development Tuesday night seems almost certain to get prime attention.

Moslems Beginning To Support Rebels

Joining of Forces in Algeria
Dims De Gaulle's Plan for Nation

ALGIERS (AP) — The forces demanding all-out independence for Algeria are winning more and more support from the country's Moslem masses.

Their increasing hold on the predominately Moslem population is dimming hope for success of Charles de Gaulle's plan for an autonomous Algeria with ties to France.

A number of Moslems who hitherto supported De Gaulle's policy of self-determination through the ballot box are rallying to the Nationalist camp. French authorities are alarmed by growing Moslem hostility, crystallized in rioting which claimed 120 Moslem lives in Algiers, Oran and Bone this month. At least eight Europeans also were killed in the rioting, which coincided with De Gaulle's visit to Algeria.

Shatters Friendship
The rioting pitted French soldiers and settlers against Moslem Algerians and shattered the fraternity which was supposed to cement an "Algerian Algeria" hoped for by De Gaulle.

The Moslems saw European settlers act against De Gaulle's policy and largely get away with it. French policy in Algeria under the Fifth Republic has been based on hope that most Moslems would support the French President and participate in his "Algerian Executive" planned for next year as an intermediate measure before self-determination.

Local Government
This plan would turn much of the administration of Algerian affairs to a local government. Europeans fear it would mean the end of their dominant position in Algeria, where they are outnumbered 9-1 by the Moslem population.

The Moslem thaw so long hoped for by the authorities revealed Moslem masses screaming the names of leaders of the Nationalist revolt and waving the green and white flag of the Front of National Liberation (FLN).

The bloody repression of the demonstration further hurt De Gaulle's popularity. Many Moslems had believed he could serve as a bridge between them and France.

In private conversations, French officials concede that the FLN has emerged as a force which cannot be ignored much longer. De Gaulle's policy until now has been to proceed with his Algerian plan, despite opposition from the rebel organization set up in neighboring Tunisia.

Discuss Cease-Fire
De Gaulle has repeatedly offered to discuss a cease-fire with the rebels but the rebels want to discuss political questions first.

Thus far, the army has remained disciplined and loyal to De Gaulle. Officials admit, however, that dissension has begun to affect certain units. The army opposes any negotiations with the rebels they have fought more than six years.

To observers in Algiers, the Algerian deadlock has never looked more menacing.

Authorities are going ahead with the Jan. 6 referendum which De Gaulle hopes will result in massive approval of his Algerian policy.

Now Vote 'No'
De Gaulle had hoped for a big turnout of favorable Moslem votes in Algeria. Many Moslems embittered by the recent riots may now simply stay home, or even vote "no."

Those Europeans who believe De Gaulle's policy amounts to abandonment are overwhelmingly against him.

These influences, coupled with evidence of opposition and possible abstention from the polls Jan. 8 in metropolitan France, could easily spell more trouble for De Gaulle's Algerian policy.

Britishers Don't Hear Queen's Words as Equipment Fails

LONDON (AP) — Red-faced officials of the British Broadcasting Corp. (BBC) have apologized to Queen Elizabeth for blanking out the opening words of her address to the nation on Christmas Day.

Millions of televisioners and radio listeners missed the first eight or nine words of the monarch's annual message when the sound reproducing machine broke down at the start of the recorded talk.

Standby equipment was quickly brought into action and the rest of the queen's speech went ahead without incident.

Keep Weight Normal in 1961, Association Urges

Data Shows Mortality Higher
Among Overweight Men, Women

Pointing out that "overweight overworks the heart," the Wisconsin Heart Association today appealed to the public to adopt the following New Year's resolution: "Resolved, that during 1961 I will do everything within my power to keep my weight at a reasonably normal level as a means of safeguarding my heart and my health."

The association, which will conduct its annual Heart Fund campaign throughout the state during February, explained that insurance actuarial studies have shown that there is a penalty attached to added weight so far as mortality is concerned.

According to data collected by life insurance companies, men who are overweight experience a significantly higher mortality than men of average weight or less than average weight. Moreover, the greater the degree of overweight, the larger is the discrepancy between the mortality expected in a particular group and the mortality that actually occurs.

Overweight women, too, have a higher mortality than women whose weight is close to average, though they are not quite as seriously affected as men.

Offers Rules
The Wisconsin Heart Association urged everyone to follow these rules:

1. Keep your weight at the best level for your age, sex and body structure. Your doctor can tell you the ideal weight for you and members of your family.

2. Remember that good nutrition is important, and eat a varied and well-balanced diet. If you are in doubt about what to eat, ask your physician.

3. Diet only under medical supervision, and never put yourself on a special diet. For one thing, it may be harmful. For another, you may not need it. Diets good for other persons may be quite wrong for you.

4. If your doctor has put you on a special diet, follow it exactly. Don't make exceptions "just this once."

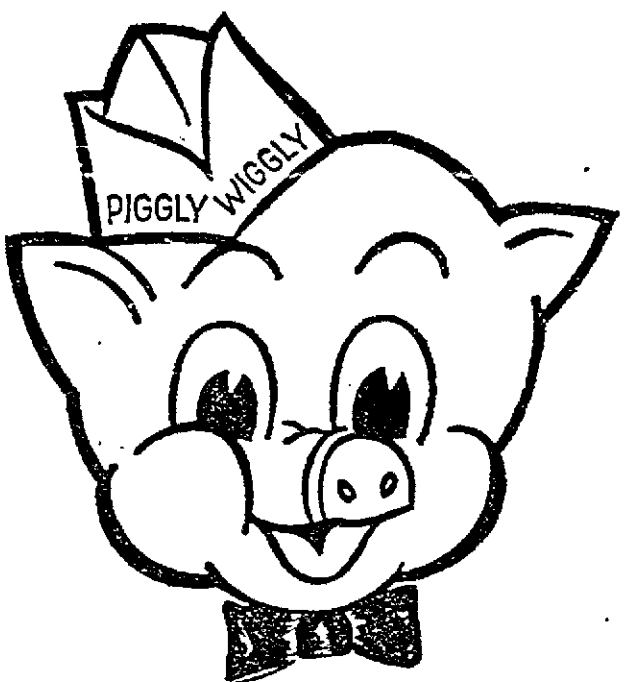

5. After you bring your weight down to optimum, keep it that way. Resist the temptation to indulge in food binges. Make it a point to think twice before eating between-meal and bedtime snacks.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

WHAT IS MY SIGNATURE?

What will be my signature and initials after I am married for the second time? Because I have two children, do I still include my former husband's name? The Answer: From the moment you are married, you abandon forever your first husband's name. Supposing you were born Mary Jeanette Smith and married John Brown. If your husband died, you would still be Mrs. John Brown, but if you were divorced, your name would be Mrs. Smith Brown, Mrs. Mary Smith Brown, Mrs. M. Smith Brown or Mrs. Mary Brown. But now that you are marrying Paul Williams, the Brown disappears and you become Mrs. Paul Williams. Your children continue to be Jean and Henry Brown unless Mr. Williams legally adopts them in which case the Brown is dropped. Your future signature will be Mary Smith Williams, Mary S. Williams, or Mary Williams. Your initials are used accordingly.

BREAKING BREAD
A friend invited two of us for lunch yesterday. She passed us whole slices of bread which we put on our butter plates. I used my butter knife to cut the slice in half, but noticed that the other two broke theirs with their fingers. Which method is correct?

Louise Davis Answers:
Bread should be broken with the fingers. When a hostess serves bread, she generally cuts the slices in halves or triangles before it is brought to the table. When one is ready to eat the bread, a small piece is broken off, buttered and eaten.

Father Has Responsibility for Children's Bedtime Schedule

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you please help us poor mothers? We are the ones who have to go to school and talk to the teachers when our kids do poorly. Fathers never go. They don't give a hoot.

Our two children are failing because they will not do their homework. The reason: They are in front of the TV set from the minute supper is over until practically drag them off to bed. The older boy is 11, the younger one is nine. They usually go to bed about 11:30—then it's a job to get them up in the morning.

I start to nag about 9:30 p.m. My husband gives me no help

Can you tell me exactly how much TV these kids should watch, and also what can I do about it?

—Exhausted

Dear Exhausted: Your husband sounds like a rock-headed mule who gives you precious little help. Show him this:

Mister, quit hiding behind that newspaper every evening and help your wife discipline the kids or you're going to have a pair of savages on your hands.

Just because your TV set is paid for doesn't mean they have to watch until they drop. Here is a sensible schedule for a nine and 11 year old: One hour of selected TV after dinner, provided they put in an hour and a half of school work either before or after. Your wife can check with the school principal and learn what TV programs the kids should watch. They should not see everything.

School nights the kids should be in bed by 10 p.m. On weekends extend the curfew one hour.

DEAR ANN: I was just crazy over a girl at work. One evening after a movie we walked by a jewelry store window and she flipped over a pearl necklace. I surprised her with it the next day and she was so thrilled she kissed me.

Two weeks later she told me I was boring her with my ignorant conversation so we broke up. I still love her but she has a new boy friend now. She wears my pearl necklace to work and it sings my hide. I know I'm jealous of the new guy but I can't help it.

Would it be dumb to offer to buy the necklace from her? I can't stand to see her wear it.—Bugged

Dear Bugged: If it "sings your hide" go ahead and offer to buy it back and consider it a contribution to your mental health. A far more mature approach, however, would be to conquer your feelings of jealousy. Tell yourself it doesn't matter what she wears—then find a new girl.

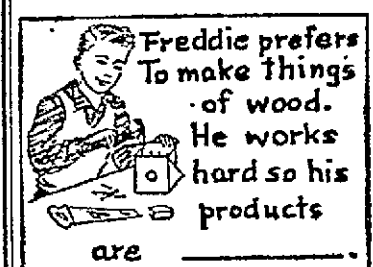

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My friend and I have been having an

Question: Is it considered old-fashioned or corny if a man removes his hat in the elevator when a woman is present? My friend says this gesture is as outmoded as the buggy whip. I say it's still good manners. What do you say?—Notice on Otis

Designing Woman

BY ELIZABETH HILLYER

How well will an upholstery den. What color should the one fabric wear? The new year promises better answers to this question and more of them as fabric testing machines become increasingly realistic in reproducing home conditions, and manufacturers take greater responsibility for testing their products and labeling them. A coming idea is the rating system, which indicates durability and also recommends fabrics for special needs, on the sound theory that, the greatest durability isn't always the most important reason for choosing a fabric—economy and special good looks also affect a wise choice as long as the fabric wears reasonably well.

In one new rating program, just introduced by one of the largest manufacturers of upholstered furniture, fabrics are rated in three categories after machine testing for abrasion, stretch, seam slippage and tear. Quality rated Superior ribbons on the covers of furniture made by this company mean that the fabric will take hard wear, and should be selected when durability is most important. Quality rated Good is recommended for normal wear with proper care. Non-rated fabrics will give reasonable service or they wouldn't have been chosen, but they include the luxury items which are always in demand although they can't compete with the sturdiest, and fabrics which must be considered for economy before durability.

decided that his partner was more likely to be leading a club (from the jack then from the ace). For this reason East finessed the nine of clubs. South swiftly took 11 tricks, and the battle was over.

East's excuse seemed reasonable, but it couldn't stand close examination.

Check Theory

It's reasonable to start with a theory, such as the idea that West had led from three or four clubs to the jack, but you can check your theory by seeing if the play is possible from other points of view. If West had led the pack of clubs, South must have either A-x or A-x-x of clubs. If so, would South play the low club from dummy at the first trick?

This is obviously impossible, since South would play dummy's queen. Hence West is not leading from the jack of clubs. South must have the jack of clubs.

Is it possible that South has A-J-x of clubs? If so, East should play the nine of clubs at the first trick. But this would mean that West has opened a club from a worthless three-card holding. This is virtually impossible, since West is bound to have a more attractive holding than that in spades.

East must come around to the view that he cannot lose anything by playing the king of clubs. As we can see, he does stand to gain something by this play. The defenders take the first five tricks, defeating the contract.

SEAMS TO ME

By Patricia Scott

Questions On Sewing

Why must petite young girls fuss and fret when they are well proportioned? If they ever tried on a pair of size 36 falsies they would realize how ridiculous they look in proportion to their other measurements.

Q. My daughter, 17, is very thin, about 5 feet 1 inch tall and has 32A-21-33 measurements. What size pattern should she wear? She is very self-conscious of her top because it isn't full like her senior classmates. Won't consider falsies. Mrs. L.M.

A. Thank goodness she won't consider falsies! A girl so tiny couldn't carry anything larger than a 32A. Tell her to be happy instead of self-conscious, because she can wear almost anything without trouble. Her top-heavy friends will soon begin to envy her. As for pattern size, any you buy will have to be altered. The smallest pattern sizes are usually 9 and 10 (equivalent to 7 and 8 in ready-to-wear) and they will be a little large on her. But the alteration isn't too difficult a job.

Q. How do you make Chinese frog type closing on clothes? I have made a mandarin coat and the pattern instructions included directions for the loop half of the frog, but used buttons for the other side. I would like to know how to make the braided buttons you see on Chinese sheath dresses. I will be very grateful for your assistance. Miss G. O.

A. Chinese ball buttons are made of covered cord or soutache braid. For small buttons cut a piece from 8 inches to 10 inches long. Loop the cord as shown (fig. 1). Loop again over and under the first loop (fig. 2). Loop a third time, weaving

Indian Official Gives Views on Laos Problem

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The crisis in Laos is a domestic quarrel aggravated by extreme leftists and intervention by force wouldn't solve it, an Indian government spokesman says.

through the other two loops (fig. 3). Keep loops open while working. Now ease together shaping into a ball. Trim ends and sew knot to underside of ball (fig. 4).

Q. I've been making some things for the house out of clear plastic film. It's not difficult to sew on, but I have one problem that drives me crazy. After working on it a while my hands perspire and the plastic gets all sticky, making it almost impossible to sew. Do you have a hint on this? Mrs. T. T.

A. Yes. Just sprinkle talcum powder on the plastic and also on your hands from time to time. This will keep both the plastic and your hands dry and will make sewing no problem.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily, she cannot answer individual letters.

Trip to Germany Was for Publicity

BY SYLVIA PORTER

In late November C. Douglas Dillon, who will become secretary of the treasury on Jan. 20, went on a mission to Bonn, Germany, to help pay the $500 million in West German military aid.

Porter American taxpayers to maintain West Germany's military defenses.

Our officials were turned down, as they fully expected to be. Off the record talks with West German Economics Minister Erhard and Bundesbank President Blessing in Washington in September had made it clear that the Bonn mission couldn't be a success. At that time, while Erhard and Blessing had indicated "sympathetic understanding" of the fact that our annual spending abroad is running $3.4 billion more than our earnings abroad and as a result we're losing gold at a pace that cannot long be tolerated, but they'd also said that Chancellor Adenauer wouldn't dream of acting on such explosive a question as troop costs before the German elections in the fall of 1961.

The Bonn mission was undertaken deliberately as a so-called fiasco in order to shock the world into realizing that the U.S. cannot and will not go on carrying so huge a load of the free world's military and economic responsibilities.

Anderson and Dillon talked tough in Bonn in order to impress upon the Germans that we're weary of letting them take a free ride on the American taxpayer's back and that we're now insisting on more "cooperation" from our partners in the free world.

The worldwide publicity about the mission's results has dramatized the extent to which our allies have made an economic comeback, and the groundwork must make to balance our interest, to de-national accounts and protect the dollar's value.

Policies to Harden Dillon's appointment underlines the continuation — and the hardening — of policies to get our international accounts in order, curb the drain on our gold reserves, protect the U.S. dollar.

The U.S. is running too much in the red to other nations and that we cannot go on this way indefinitely if we are to continue a great economic power and if our dollar is to remain the free world's pivot currency. One reason you know this is that the Bonn mission made headlines that startled you into the knowledge. President-elect Kennedy will tackle our balance of payments problem as soon as he takes office. One reason you know this is that the gold drain reached a point during the election camouflaged, but they'd also said a series of steps to meet the challenge and to make an unqualified pledge to protect the dollar.

Inspired Appointment The selection of Dillon as treasury secretary means that in this vital post there will be a man with a "sound money" background and a worldwide reputation as a financial conservative — imperative qualifications at this stage.

Dillon went to Bonn with Anderson, talked tough, heard the responses and needs no briefing to get him up to date.

In this deeply significant and yet little recognized sense, it seems to me the naming of Dillon was exquisitely inspired. (Copyright, 1961)

UW Students, Research, Facilities Increase

University Now Fifth Largest In Nation, With 27,452 Pupils

MADISON (AP)—Rising enrollments, new research projects and expansion of facilities made 1960 a big year for the University of Wisconsin.

Wisconsin moved up to fifth in the nation in full-time students and eighth in total enrollment with a record-breaking 27,452 day students.

The largest freshman class in history brought enrollment to 18,811 on the Madison campus, 6,475 at UW-Milwaukee and 2,166 in the eight extension centers around the state.

Estimate Explosion Enrollment in 1961 is predicted at 19,400 at Madison, 7,080 at UWM and 2,300 at the centers.

The World War Two birth rate impact is expected to start in 1963-64 and by 1970 minimum estimates call for 31,000 students at Madison, 12,300 at UWM and 4,300 at the centers—a total 47,600.

New projects at the university ranged from an urban problems program supported by $1 million from the Ford Foundation to a lake studies laboratory, financed by $480,000 from the National Science Foundation.

Other new projects included a polar and geophysical research center in the geology department, an Indian language and area center, a department of statistics and survey research laboratory and a center for industrial productivity studies.

Added to the university's 1,500 research projects were such new studies as a program to launch satellite observatories, an analysis of economic effects of private pension plans and testing of fertilizers coated with plastic to slow down release of plant nutrients in the capsules.

The university made another major contribution to the space age in the November orbiting of the Tiros II weather satellite. One of its experiments was designed by Prof. Verner Suomi and his team of UW scientists.

Volunteer ROTC Assessing the university's future needs for faculty and facilities, the Board of Regents approved a biennial budget request of $148 million. About half would come from state tax funds.

Buildings valued at nearly $3 million were completed during 1960. Another $8 million is being spent on the completion of a chemistry research building and law library addition at Madison, and a science building at UW-Milwaukee.

New freshman-sophomore centers at Menasha and Wausau were dedicated in 1960.

Controversial issues at the university during the year included the apparent success of an experiment in voluntary ROTC training and virtually complete compliance with a requirement that fraternities and sororities erase discriminatory membership clauses.

After 27 years, boxing was discontinued as an intercollegiate sport at Wisconsin following the death of Charles Mohr. The 22-year-old Wisconsin senior suffered a brain injury in an NCAA tournament bout April 9 and never regained consciousness.

The UW regents gained a new member in 1960 when Jacob F. the semester to register at the Frederick, Milwaukee, labor leader, joined the board.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge. Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONOID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONOID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONOID's unequalled rebulking action helps restore flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONOID acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon. COLONOID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONOID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONOID today! INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

Drop Assessments On 28 Streets in City of Menasha

Work to be Paid From General
Funds; Citizens Protest Bills

MENASHA — Direct assessments for seal coating 28 streets in Menasha during 1960 were cancelled Tuesday by the common council after a public hearing in which only one alderman spoke in favor of the policy.

The roll call on cancelling assessments, however, was unanimous. This year's $10,000 for assessments will be from general funds.

City Clerk Harry Kind advised that he would notify all property owners assessed earlier that their charges were cancelled. Those who have paid will receive refunds, he added.

The assessments last month were ruled invalid and illegal by City Atty. Richard J. Steffens on the grounds that no public notice had been given, that the rate of assessment was not set by council action, and that neither council nor board of public works had authorized any specific projects.

Other Assessments Stand

Tuesday's public hearing was to correct the procedure. The council's choices would have been to affirm, amend or cancel the street sealing charges.

Not affected by the outcome are direct assessments for street surfacing approved last June 7 and on other previous occasions.

At the Dec. 6 council meeting, Steffens was asked to prepare a draft of a referendum question for the April 4 election on the street maintenance or sealing charges.

The question reads: "Shall the City of Menasha assess property owners in whole or in part for road maintenance? Maintenance is hereby defined as repair work on existing streets." In his letter to the council, Steffens cited Webster, who defined the word "repair" as "to restore after injury; mend."

Advices Care in Voting

The 55-minute hearing was capped by Ald. Louis Gammey's statement: "The people should remember they heard one alderman no longer on this council say 'If you don't like Menasha, get out.' You should be very careful whom you put into office. This is your city government. It runs the city for you. This is how you got the assessments in 1957. Most of you

QSHKOSH — Roger D. Nachtwey, 30, 307 1/2 N. Commercial St., Neenah, this morning was committed by Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane to the sex deviate center at Waupun for examination.

Nachtwey pleaded guilty of taking indecent liberties with two 15-year old boys at his apartment in Neenah on Nov. 2. He was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Neenah police.

Fire Damages Roof

MENASHA — The only fire alarm over the New Year's weekend was at 2:03 p.m. Monday to the Wayne Gibson home, 826 Tayco St. The fire department extinguished a fire which burned a small hole in the roof. Cause was believed to have been chimney sparks.

Order Action on New Heiss Files Menasha Sixth Ward Papers for New Term

Steffens Points to 'Odd Situation' in Minute Book, Recommends New Rules

MENASHA — Pending since July 1959, action on a new Sixth ward for Menasha was ordered Tuesday by the common council.

Ald. Edward Stinski moved that the ordinance and resolution committee act on setting up the new ward, presumably to be detached from the present Fourth, the city's largest in area and population.

Ald. Louis Gammey seconded, and amended the motion to allow Stinski, not a committee member, to sit with the committee on the matter.

City Atty. Richard J. Steffens said the minute books show "an odd situation." On July 7, 1959, the council by a 6-4 vote approved instruction of the city attorney to draw the charter ordinance for the new ward after the committee met with the two Fourth Ward aldermen.

Next mention, Steffens said, was the notation that the mayor's veto was overridden July 22, 1959. "What did he veto? What was overridden?" asked Steffens.

He advised that a charter ordinance would require publication four times, and could not become effective for 60 days after passage. The result is that anyone wanting to run as alderman could not do so April 4, since the area is not determined and since the nomination filing deadline is Jan. 31.

In Neenah, Steffens added, the council gave six months' notice on ward line and number changes.

Mayor R. G. DuCharme vetoed the motion to direct drawing up the charter ordinance July 13, 1959. The override passed by an 8-1 vote.

On eliminating gaps in council minutes in the future, Steffens advised adopting new rules on accepting committee and council minutes. New rules also would speed up council meetings, he said.

The appointment was announced by Al Crace, Malleable Iron Range Co., Beaver Dam, chairman of the council of safety's attendance committee.

Theme for the conference is "Safety Everywhere — All the Time."

For the first time in its history, the conference will be held in two hotels. The industrial and home sections will be in the Hotel Schroeder and the traffic safety section will be held in the Plankinton Hotel.

The Wisconsin safety conference is considered the largest in the midwest with about 1,200 members including safety experts, supervisors, exhibitors and other personnel. About 50 are expected from the Twin Cities area.

Report Theft of 3 Appliances From New Home

OSHKOSH — Theft of three electrical appliances worth $1,000 and wood valued at $200 from a home now under construction on Fieldcrest Drive, off Highway 150, in the Town of Menasha, was reported to the sheriff's office Tuesday by Bert Holverson, Neenah building contractor.

Holverson said an electric range, washer and dryer had been delivered to the house last Thursday and were missing on Monday although the house was believed to be locked. He also said that during the last 10 days various types of lumber and plywood panels stored in the garage and worth about $200 had been taken.

Entry was believed gained by opening a window and then unlocking the front door. The appliances taken were still in their packing cases.

The home is being constructed for Berdina Helmershausen and is only partially completed. Left untouched were a built-in range and a refrigerator.

$1,236,360 Building In Menasha in 1960

Council Learns Relief Commission
Remits $4,705 of $18,000 Year Budget

MENASHA — Building projects of total estimated value of $1,236,360 were authorized in 1960 by Building Inspector Allen E. Merrill, the common council learned Tuesday.

The 226 permits issued covered 59 new homes for $730,200, compared with 51 new homes in 1959, valued at $587,900.

Also allowed were 65 garages in 1960, valued at $47,093, compared to 66 garages in 1959, valued at $45,965.

Remodeling permits in 1960 were for $77,045 in 69 projects, compared to $66,960 in 62 projects the year before.

Other permits, including industrial and commercial, fences, signs, plumbing and heating, were $383,150 in 1960, compared to $220,078 in 1959.

Mayor John Klein commended Merrill's report.

The Menasha - Neenah Relief Commission has remitted $4,705 of last year's $18,000 Menasha budget share to the city. It processed 116 cases with 439 persons, at a total per-person cost of $30.28.

The mayor also commended the service of Mrs. Liliosa Preisen.

The council also: Approved refunding $14.40 to Atty. George F. Stine for duplicated personal property tax and paying $340 for dues to the League of Wisconsin Municipalities.

Referred the $127 sewer lateral and riser bill share charged to Lawrence Rasmussen, 370 Oak St. to the street committee. Mrs. Rasmussen's contention that some parts of the sewer long have been defective raised aldermanic doubts. Merrill also said some irregularities were apparent.

He was arrested Christmas night at High- and Kaukauna streets after the car he was driving struck one moving auto and one parked car. A citizen held him for police.

Ethel O. Stulp, 419 First St., forfeited $5 and costs for ignoring the red traffic light at Main and Racine streets.

Marshall E. Engel, 26, 500 S. Lake St., forfeited $1 and costs for making a U-turn on Main street.

Last Ties to Logging Lost To New London

Curtis Co. Factory Revises Operations In Wood Production

NEW LONDON — The last remaining association with the once thriving logging business which was responsible for the New London's foundation and development is nearing an end.

New London Factory, Curtis Companies, Inc., announced Tuesday that the transportation costs have brought about a revision of operations which will start in about a month's time.

Instead of having the raw logs shipped to the New London plant, the firm now plans to purchase its veneer from mills in northern Michigan and Canada.

Guy Ingersoll, personnel manager, explained that the proposed change will not necessarily bring about lay-off of plant employees since those presently employed in the logging and yard department's of Plant One, will work in the door plant.

Founded in 1919

The Curtis factories here were founded in 1919 by Frank L. Zaugg, who now lives in Wisconsin Rapids. The first operations consisted of cutting veneer and making plywood for coat hangers by the firm which was then known as American Plywood Corp.

One of the plants which will be furnishing some of the veneer for the New London industry is the former Oconto mill, which was sold about two years ago by Curtis Companies. The plant is being moved to Grand Marais, Minn., where Gene Fletcher, foreman of the yard and veneer mill here, is helping to assemble it.

Ingersoll also announced that the new policy will not effect the plywood department, which will continue to produce the panels for the firm's major production, the making of doors.

The company, however, plans to retain its logging equipment here in the event that the price of veneer raises to a point where it would be more expensive than cutting it here.

Present Log Supply

The firm has about a month's supply of logs on hand now and other logs already purchased at the logging camps. Many of the logs still at the camp, however, are being sold to other firms.

The logging operations at Curtis Companies here has kept alive the memories of many of the former Hatten Mill employees. Each winter the yard behind the factory was filled with thousands of logs which were piled 30 feet high and higher. The logs were then used to keep production going throughout the year.

The pile is small this year, however, and will soon be gone. Ingersoll reported that the firm had a higher door production in 1960 than in any one year since the firm was founded. Daily production was about 2,000 doors last year.

Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane adjourned proceedings until 10 a.m. Feb. 6 and Block was committed to the county jail in default of $2,000 bond.

Drop Street Maintenance Assessments

didn't know you were to be assessed last summer when the work was enacted."

Citizens appearing to protest included:

Walter O'Brien, 705 Grove St., a former alderman — "In 1957 it was false economy (to assess for maintenance). Under the policy before that, street maintenance included seal coating through the street budget. The tax rate was not affected." Later in the hearing he asked the mayor and council "not to push the decision onto the people. (Assessments in 1957) were pushed onto the people. It should again be up to the mayor and council."

Sidney Wilson, 350 Oak St. — "I came up here with an open mind. I wonder if any council member or citizen has an argument to justify assessments. We have to pay for streets. If not paid by assessments, the tax rate would go up slightly. Is there any reason or advantage to the future to make such assessments? Is it a trend? Will we pay for garbage collection? Or will a family with one child pay for one child's schooling and that with six pay for six?"

Mayor John Klein told Wilson the present council's thinking is to have as much as possible come from the tax rate.

Ald. Robert Mielke spoke in favor of assessments. "Some want blacktop or concrete. After the people pay once that should be it. Concrete and blacktop should be at an initial cost to the people."

Gammey replied: "Some aldermen may forget that most of the city is in concrete and blacktop. But in the Fourth Ward there is much gravel roadway."

John R. Scanlon, 858 Sixth St., a former mayor — "You should make more mistakes so you'll get more people up here. They will know who represents them. Have the courage to cancel the assessments and take them from general funds." The audience, about 100 persons, applauded Scanlon. He contended the only way for the city to get good streets is to have the work paid from general funds, since protests at public hearings can cause project cancellation.

Frank Heckrodt, 544 Riverway, another former mayor — "Those who have cars pay 6 cents a gallon gasoline tax, from which the city benefits. The city last year got $20,000. It should be applied to street work. On my street, we have not only autos and trucks but also high water, especially when there is a south wind."

The city attorney advised that any referendum would be only advisory, unless it was ordered by an initiative of the citizenry. The initiative, a seldom-used tool of the state government, requires action by a governing body. He suggested an ordinance to cover street maintenance charges and whether they would be levied.

Judge Assigns Estate of Late Menasha Woman

OSHKOSH — Most of the $40,737 estate of the late Josephine Boyce of Menasha, who died July 1, 1959, was assigned in trust to her sister, Sarah Cronin, Menasha, by County Judge Herbert J. Mueller Tuesday.

She provided outright bequests of $1,000 for masses to the pastor of St. Patrick's Church of Menasha and $1,000 to the Fathers of St. Edmund at Selma, Ala. The balance goes in trust to her sister.

Upon the death of her sister the proceeds from sale of the house in Menasha are to go to a nephew, James Cronin, Amarillo, Texas, and a niece, Dolores Cronin, Minneapolis, Minn.

St. Patrick's Church of Menasha is to get $1,000 from the trust, and the balance of the estate is to go into shares of one-third each to St. Joseph's Home for Children at Green Bay, St. Joseph's Union of Staten Island at New York City and the Catholic Near East Welfare Association at New York City.

1960 Was Good Building Year For Neenah

Total Value of Permits Increased Almost 50 Pct.

NEENAH — Neenah residents and business firms bucked the national trend in 1960 by constructing new homes and business with a value almost 50 per cent higher than in 1959.

Total value of 1960 construction in Neenah was $5,049,850, according to the year-end report compiled by Carlton Williams, city building inspector. Value of all building in 1959 was $3,731,165.

Four items accounted for the major share of new construction. They were: The Fox Point Shopping Center, $700,000; new junior high school, $520,000; St. Gabriel Church and school, $552,000, and the addition to the Marathon Division of American Can Co. Neenah Plant, $450,000.

Fewer New Homes
There were 24 fewer new homes built in 1960, 151 compared with 175 in 1959, but the total value of the homes was only slightly less, $2,188,200 in 1960 and $2,399,150 for 1959.

Williams noted a big increase in the number of four-family duplexes built this last year — 17 as compared with six in 1959.

The Ninth Ward led all wards in building with construction valued at $1,942,525. The Sixth Ward was second with permits having a total value of $1,350,725. The least building activity was found in the Eighth Ward where total permit value was only $29,675.

December Building
Twenty building permits were issued during December, having a total value of $207,100. Seven new home permits accounted for $129,500 of the total.

The biggest single item in December was the new Eagles Club building with a permit value of $51,000.

Top ward for December also was the Ninth Ward with permits totaling $140,000.

Oldest in Service

Husband-Wife Sheriff Claim Tenure Record

CHILTON — Monday, when Mrs. Lucille Kosmosky assumed the duties of Calumet County sheriff succeeding her husband, C. J. Kosmosky, the pair became the oldest—based on tenure of service—active man-and-wife sheriff team in the state.

The Kosmoskys, between the two, have completed ten successive years in the office beginning in January, 1951, when Kosmosky took office after having defeated incumbent Ted Pagel during the 1950 fall election. He served the two-year terms allotted him by statute and Mrs. Kosmosky retained the office for the family by becoming the first successful woman campaigner for sheriff in the county's history by winning the 1954 general election and serving during 1955 and '56. He regained the post for two more terms and Lucille won the 1960 election.

Duties Same
The 12th successive year in office, they are assured, places the Kosmoskys in second place for the longest tenure held by a man-and-wife in the state's history. Only Mr. and Mrs. James Moore, now retired, have held the office longer, serving as Polk County sheriff for 18 years.

Mrs. Kosmosky said she is one of seven woman sheriffs in the state.

Duties in the sheriff's office remain much the same as before the switch in family titles took place. As undersheriff replacing Herb Kolbe, Kosmosky will perform whatever tasks are generally assigned to the sheriff.

Acts as Matron
In the event of processing legal papers such as a sheriff's sale or forfeiture, Mrs. Kosmosky's signature and approval will be required. She will continue as radio operator as she has during the last 10 years and as jail matron and matron whenever handling of female prisoners becomes necessary.

On the changes he had witnessed during the decade the office has been in the family, Kosmosky remarked on the many additional chores which have become a sheriff's duties during recent years. Rising population has resulted in a proportionate increase in the number of automobiles making traffic control more demanding and difficult besides a swiftly rising crime rate.

Finding a Christmas tree that is self-decorating may open a new field for tree dealers. Mrs. Kenneth Carter, 718 N. Water St., New London, owns a tree that started producing hundreds of small cones about five days ago. She put the blue spruce up Dec. 18.

523 Building Permits Issued

OSHKOSH — County Clerk Nell A. Hoffmann issued a total of 523 building permits in 1960. The permits are for construction in those townships which have elected to come under the county zoning ordinance.

Beginning this week, building permits will be issued by Carl Mailahn who has been designated as county zoning officer.

Man Drives Through 22 Arteries; Pleads Guilty to 3 Charges

OSHKOSH — An Oshkosh man who failed to stop for 22 arterial signs and six times drove the wrong way on a 1-way street pleaded guilty to three charges in Municipal Court this morning.

Albert L. Liese, 23, route 4, Oshkosh, was arrested by Oshkosh police at 8:43 p.m. Tuesday after a chase. He was charged with reckless driving, resisting arrest and driving after revocation of his license. His license was revoked last May 31 for reckless driving.

Judge Arnold J. Cane set sentencing for 10 a.m. Friday.

Blue Spruce Grows Cones In Home

Kenneth Carters Keeping Tree At New London

NEW LONDON — While many strange happenings have been associated with Christmas trees, the blue spruce owned by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Carter, 718 N. Water St., may very well be unique.

It is a self-decorating Christmas tree.

The Carters bought their Christmas tree from a neighbor, Niles Walters, and put it up Dec. 18 in the corner of their living room. Walters told Carter the tree would stay green longer if he were to drill a hole in the core of the trunk and kept it watered.

2 Quarts Water
For the first five days, the tree was taking about two quarts of water a day. The thirsty tree had its fill of water about five days ago when it suddenly blossomed with hundreds of little green cones.

While the cones near the top of the tree are large and easier to see, the branches in about the middle of the tree are loaded with the little cones. There are none on the bottom branches.

The needles on the top branches are green, fresh and well tended to the tree.

"Although it is that time of the year to take down the tree, Mrs. Carter says, 'I plan to keep it up to watch these strange happenings.'"

Kenoshan Hurt When Hit by Car On Highway 110

OSHKOSH — Palmer A. Truax, 31, Kenosha, was taken to Mercy Hospital after he was struck by a car driven by Gladys I. Klemm, Wausau, on Highway 110 in the Town of Oshkosh Tuesday afternoon. Truax, who at first declined hospitalization, received a neck and back injury.

County authorities reported that Truax and a brother, Allan, were walking down the middle of the highway when Palmer was hit. Witnesses told county police that the driver didn't have a chance to avoid the mishap.

Allan, 43, also of Kenosha, was fined $50 and costs this morning by Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane after pleading guilty of being drunk on a public highway. He told the court that their car had developed trouble.

Truax also said they had been at Marshfield to see their mother because another brother, Gerald, had lost four children in a fire at Kenosha two weeks ago.

Teens Face Problems of Manners at First Formal

BY VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeature Writer

You are all set to wear those first formal clothes, but do you know how?

Girls and boys look forward to shining in their formal duds, but when it comes to carrying off the big occasions gracefully, ah, that is another matter. They do worry about it, however, in letters that say: "What do I do?"

Formal manners go with formal clothes. A girl who bounces around in an evening dress, might just as well be wearing dungarees.

She shouldn't straddle her legs as if she were at a soda fountain, lean over the table, elbows akimbo, or apply makeup and comb her hair at the dance table.

Dreamy

If you'd look the dreamy part you have envisioned, act it. Keep your voice modulated, and don't greet friends from a distance. Sit sedately in your escort's automobile, even if you are normally accustomed to curling up on the seat.

An escort is likely to forget a corsage, especially if it is his first big occasion, so don't pout if it happens. He'll appreciate you all the more for being a good sport about it. His embarrassment at the faux pas will be punishment enough.

Formal Attire

Boys have embarrassing moments making an appearance in the formal attire, even though they have eagerly awaited the big event. They feel unreal in the rented suit or that first tuxedo they call their own. If the after-six suit is Dad's or an older brother's the problem is likely to be more acute as they recall advice to treat the suit kindly.

They hesitate to ask advice but the problem is there: How do you wear one of these things?

Proper Fit
If worn properly the jacket collar should hug the neck, and show about one-half inch of shirt collar. Sleeves should be short enough to show about one-half cuffs.

Trouser legs should hang straight in back, break slightly in front. Socks should be high enough to conceal the calf. A pocket handkerchief should be placed neatly, not bulge out of the pocket.

A cummerbund makes a young man feel too dressed up. It seems too fancy. But after one evening in his evening suit, he'll forget about that. The style is to match the tie and cummerbund.

Soft white formal shirts ease the wearing of evening suits. Shoes and hose should be black. A wrist watch is not worn, although a pocket watch may be carried.

Girls, be considerate. Carry your paraphernalia in a little purse. Don't load up the boy's pockets with your compact, lipstick and other odds and ends.

List Hints For Cooks

NEENAH — When using canned fruit as a garnish for meat or poultry, save the leftover syrup. Combine the syrup with ginger ale or club soda, with other fruit juices or tea for a good drink.

Good treatment for a double-crust apple pie is, before the baking is complete, brush the top crust with lightly-beaten egg white, then sprinkle with sugar and return to the oven.

When offering cheese with fresh fruit as dessert, have two varieties, one a mild cheese such as cream cheese or Edam, another, a strong cheese such as Roquefort or Camembert.

Making caramel syrup for custard sauce? Add boiling rather than cold water to the melted sugar to have as little spattering as possible.

A little lemon rind added to homemade or canned cream of asparagus soup points up the flavor. Try adding a bit of mint to cream of pea soup.

When making stew, sprinkle beef cubes with chopped onion, crushed garlic and oregano the night before it is to be made, cover tightly and refrigerate. Next day brown the meat and onions in fat and proceed as usual.

Free Throw Contest Scheduled Thursday

Games Friday:
Denmark at Wrightstown.
Hilbert at Freedom.
Bear Creek at Reedsville.
Shiocton at Hortonville.
Omro at Winneconne.

Key spots in the first division will be at stake as Little Nine Conference teams swing back into action Friday following the holiday layoff.

Feature games will have unbeaten Shiocton playing at Hortonville (4-1) and Freedom (4-1) will entertain Hilbert (3-2).

Other games will have Denmark at Wrightstown, Bear Creek at Reedsville and Omro at Winneconne.

Seeks Revenge
Hortonville will be out to gain revenge for the only setback on its record and also trying to upset the Chiefs and gain a share of first place. Shiocton posted a 47-40 victory over the Polar Bears in their first game.

Shiocton has the best defense in the league according to points allowed opponents and Hortonville has the best offensive average, 59 points per game.

Freedom will be out to remain in contention for the league crown. A loss would drop the Irish into fourth place and boost Hilbert into third. Freedom's lone loss was to Hortonville in the opening game of the league season.

Hard-Luck Team
Omro also will be trying to hold its first division spot at the expense of rival Winneconne. In their last meeting Omro pulled out a 50-48 victory in a thriller. Winneconne has been the hard-luck team of the conference losing one game by two points, another by one point in regulation play and still another by one point in overtime.

Denmark will be out to even its mark at 3-3 against Wrightstown and also will be trying to snap a two-game losing streak.

Reedsville will be aiming at a .500 mark against Bear Creek. However, the latter has shown marked improvement of late and posted an upset win over Wrightstown.

Lesson in English BY W. L. GORDON

Words often misused: Do not say, "We have in our midst a very well-known person." Although the expression, "in our midst," is very widely used, it has never been completely established as good usage. It is better to say, "We have WITH US a very well-known person."

Often mispronounced: SENO (Spanish title). Pronounce say-no, accent second syllable.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: quell; to calm; to still. "The militia was called out to quell the riot."

Canada May Get Schloredt

Washington Star Wasn't Drafted By NFL Club

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bob Schloredt, figuring he's more suited to Canadian pro football than the American brand, says he'll probably play for the British Columbia Lions in Vancouver next season.

The Washington quarterback star of two consecutive Rose Bowl games, said before leaving for Hawaii to play in the Hula Bowl that he was drafted both by Vancouver and by the Dallas Texans of the American Football League. No NFL club put in a bid for him.

"The Texans think I can play offensive quarterback for them," Schloredt said, "but I'm afraid it would take a lot of coaching."

The quarterback's ability to run rollouts is more important in the Canadian League and passing ability is less essential than in U.S. pro ball.

Papermakers Face Two Rivers Friday

Shoot for Sixth Consecutive Triumph; Menasha Team Will Invade New London

Friday's Games:
Kaukauna at Neenah.
Shawano at Clintonville.
Kimberly at Two Rivers.
Menasha at New London.

NEENAH — Kimberly seeks its fifth straight Mid-Eastern Conference win Friday night when it visits Two Rivers as these two and the other six teams take up post-holiday league action.

Neenah welcomes Kaukauna, New London, co-runnerup with the Rockets, awaits the invasion of Menasha and Shawano goes to Clintonville, completing the first bill of 1961.

Since the last set of league games, Dec. 16, many of the teams have seen non-conference action. Shawano downed 1960 state champion Wausau, but four other M-E teams lost. Neenah was beaten by Appleton, Clintonville was nipped by Antigo, Kaukauna bowed to Plymouth and Two Rivers lost to Manitowish. Several M-E teams also faced alumni squads during the holiday period.

5 Straight Wins

Kimberly will attempt to maintain its unblemished record against a Two Rivers aggregation which ranks third in defense but is the second poorest offensive unit. The Papermakers have an over-all skein of five straight wins, picking up No. 5 in beating co-favorite Menasha by 23 points in their last outing.

Leading Scorer

Neenah saw its 3-game win string snapped by Appleton Friday night but the Rockets still have three straight in conference play. They boast the top scorer in Paul Felton, who has a 1-point edge over Tom Rooyakkers of Kimberly. The invading Ghosts have the league's best defensive mark but are by far the weakest scoring team.

Menasha, which faces an uphill struggle if it hopes to fulfill the preseason predictions, meets a Bulldog team which attempts to start another win string. New London's skein of five was halted by Shawano the last time out.

The Jays should be greatly bolstered by the return of 6-2 guard John Matowitz. The senior letterman, counted on to be a starter, suffered a broken elbow last fall. He made his first start against the Alumni last Friday and scored 13 points.

Shawano will try to chalk up its third straight win and at the same time deal Clintonville its fourth successive league loss. Should the Indians, Menasha and Kaukauna win, a 4-way tie for second among Shawano, the Jays, Neenah and the Bulldogs would be the result.

Antigo Rallies To Edge Out Clints, 79-77

6 Free Throws in Last 1:38 Erase 75-73 Deficit

CLINTONVILLE — Antigo overcame an early Clintonville lead and stalled out a 79-77 victory over the Trucks in a non-conference game Tuesday night.

The loss gives the Trucks a 3-5 record for the season, while Antigo has a 6-2 mark. C I in tonville started fast by moving to a 9-0 lead. The Trucks hiked the lead to 13-3 but the winners came back with eight straight markers to make it 13-11. Clintonville moved again to lead, 22-15, at the end of the first period.

Closes Gap
Antigo lost little time in closing the gap with a 26-point spurge in the second period while Clintonville was held to 18. This gave the victors a 41-40 halftime advantage.

The last two periods were saw-saw, with the lead changing hands consistently. Clintonville took a 75-73 lead on Dick Bennett's basket with 1:38 left in the game, but three straight personal fouls against the Trucks were turned into six points for Antigo as the winners controlled the ball.

Jim Bullis of Antigo hit 28 points, while George Greeley had 24 for Clintonville.

Fans in KC Happy About Getting Lane

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City baseball fans, who can stand a change, found themselves Tuesday with the American League's leading opponent of the status quo. They're delighted.

Reaction of the man-in-the-street to the appointment of Frank Lane of the Cleveland Indians as vice president and general manager of the Kansas City Athletics was overwhelmingly favorable.

The Athletics finished in the American League cellar last year and they haven't fielded a good team since they transferred from Philadelphia in 1954. The team's late owner, Arnold Johnson, demonstrated an irritating propensity to trade what talent the A's did have to the New York Yankees for second line personnel.

Thus the fans are receptive to any change that offers hope of improvement.

block; one of them was hurt. So the opportunities for these backs to run weren't there."

Bruhn also noted that the players might have been disturbed somewhat by pressure from the pro teams—the National and American Leagues and the Canadians. "I have never seen the pros recruit as hard as they did this year," Milt said.

Good Receiver
Adderley is exceptionally well built. "He goes nearly 200 stripped and he's muscular. I asked him if he had been lifting the weights but he said he never lifted a weight in his life," Milt said.

The Wisconsin mentor was impressed with Adderley's versatility. "Those hands will make him a good receiver. He'll run right into the ball. He'd be a fine slot.

Ghosts Suffer Non-Loop Loss To Plymouth

EW Co-Leaders Boost 20-14 Halftime Lead To Win, 47-27

KAUKAUNA — Handicapped by the loss of two varsity players over the holidays and a lack of height, the Kaukauna High School basketball team dropped a 47-27 non-conference decision to Plymouth on winners' court Tuesday night.

The loss was the sixth in a row for the Ghosts and gives them a 1-7 mark overall.

Kaukauna was without the services of starting guard Tom Hiestand who suffered a broken hand in a practice session over the holidays and Dick Promer, a leading reserve, who will undergo surgery Friday for a bone splinter in his left arm. Promer's injury is a result of the football season.

The Panthers' superior height enabled them to control the boards and the small gym also hampered the Ghost attack.

Plymouth, the Eastern Wisconsin Conference's co-leader, held the Ghosts without a point in the first period, leading, 6-0, and both teams scored 14 in the second quarter to lead 20-14 at the intermission.

The victors took a commanding lead with 12 points in the third period while Kaukauna had six. Bob Unger of Plymouth topped the scoring with 16 points, while teammate Warren Hughes followed with 12 markers.

Fred Steger and Steve Mayer each scored six points for Kaukauna.

Pension Plan Top Problem

Currie Represents Packers at NFL Player Meeting

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Financing a pension plan is the No. 1 problem for National Football League players assembling here today for their first full scale association meeting.

An informal golf tournament on the Hollywood Beach course was a frolicsome prelude to business sessions of the 75 athletes.

In addition to providing a source of later-life income, the players intend to see what can be done about extending their association to the Chicago Bears. The association claims 100 per cent membership on the rosters of all other clubs in the league.

Bill Howton, Dallas pass receiver who heads the players group, expressed hopes that new sources of income for the association pension fund will come out of a conference here with Pete Rozelle, league president.

The Green Bay Packers are represented at the meeting by linebacker Dan Currie.

Nick Skorich Top Candidate To Replace Shaw as Coach

Eagles Plan to Offer Van Brocklin Record Salary to Play Again

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Assistant coach Nick Skorich today emerged as the most likely candidate to succeed retired Buck Shaw as head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League after it was learned the club favors him, presumably because of experience and proven ability.

At the same time, it was also learned the Eagles plan to offer quarterback Norm Van Brocklin, who retired at the end of this season as a player, a record salary to return.

But the 34-year-old passing great who led the Eagles to their first world championship in 11 years this year said Tuesday he would turn down the offer and return to Oregon unless he gets a coaching job.

It was understood, however, that some Eagles' officials feel they can persuade Van Brocklin to return as a player or as a player-assistant under Skorich.

"I like money as well as the next guy," said Van Brocklin. "But I'm not going to play again. No one believes me, but I'm through."

Add Strength
Several things added strength to the 39-year-old Skorich's emergence as the top candidate.

For one, the former Pittsburgh Steeler and Green Bay assistant coach withdrew as a candidate for the University of Cincinnati job, which went to Charles Stedley of Massachusetts.

Skorich, who played at Cincinnati and with the Steelers, is credited with developing the Eagles' line which gave Van Brocklin such good pass protection.

Meanwhile, Eagles' general manager Vince McNally said: "I have no comment because I know nothing about it. We haven't had a meeting to discuss it.

Van Brocklin, whose salary this year was estimated over $20,000, is highly regarded by the Eagles as a potential coach.

But it was understood Skorich's experience could not be discounted and that there was some concern that he and other assistants might resign if a player were elevated over their heads.

Grinnell Quint Rallies, Tops Beloit, 72-71

Northern Illinois tallied a thumping 103-84 nonconference basketball victory over University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee Tuesday night on the 30-point shooting of Grant Fritchert.

In other games, Grinnell downed Beloit 72-71. Whitewater trounced Carroll 67-50 and Eau Claire came up with a 75-64 triumph over Hamline.

Ginnell came from behind in the final minute for its Midwest Conference victory at Beloit. Bob Musser, who had 25 points, sank a field goal and Beloit was wild on its remaining attempts to score again. Bill Biederman paced the losers with 20 points. Grinnell is 2-4 in the loop and Beloit 1-3.

Eau Claire came up with a nine-point spree with only six minutes left on the clock to defeat Hamline.

Bob Blizzard took scoring honors for the game at Eau Claire with 22 points. Eau Claire had trailed through the first and second half until the strong scoring put the Bluegolds in front.

Norman and Sneed May Start Saturday

Senior Bowl Coaches Seem to Like Strong Passers

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Both Senior Bowl coaches apparently are thinking in terms of strong passing attacks as they prepare for the all-star football game here Saturday.

Indications are the starting quarterback roles have been won by Norman Sneed of Wake Forest and Dick Norman of Stanford, two of the leading passers in the nation this season.

The South squad's Sneed ranked second nationally, completing 123 of 259 attempts for 1,676 yards. The Washington Redskins picked him in the first round of the recent pro draft and promptly signed him to a contract.

Norman, directing the first backfield unit in the North drills, connected on 95 of 201 passes during the season to increase his three-year totals to 323 completions in 597 attempts for 3,737 yards and 18 touchdowns.

Alternating with Sneed were Howard Dyer of VMI and Phil Nugent of Tulane. Norman will share the North quarterbacking with Bob Hyner, a star in Washington's Rose Bowl victory over Minnesota Monday.

Soph Leads Duke Past Navy, 78-63

Art Heyman Scores 28 Points; Vanderbilt Wins 11th in Row

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Art Heyman, one New Yorker who Frank McGuire couldn't nail, continues to drive Duke's Blue Devils to a solid national rating while establishing himself as one of the top sophomores of the new college basketball season.

A hero both on and off the court, the 19-year-old, 6-foot-5, 205-pound crew cut from Rockville Centre, N.Y., fired in 28 points and boosted his season's average to 23.4 Tuesday night as eighth-rated Duke whipped Navy, 78-63. Seven of those 28 were game-breakers reeled off in succession in the closing minutes by Heyman, who shunned bids from McGuire's North Carolina Tar Heels and (by family count) 48 other major schools to enroll at Duke after a whirlwind career at Long Island's Oceanside High School.

The 28 points represented a record for the new Greensboro, N.C., Coliseum and earned Heyman an award as the game's outstanding player.

Coincidentally, one of Heyman's Rockville Centre neighbors—soph John Pungier of North Carolina State—played a key role in Tuesday night's college activity that also saw Vanderbilt stretch its two-season win streak to 11. Virginia Tech established itself as the team to beat in the West Virginia-dominated Southern Conference, and touted Georgia Tech right itself just in time for the start of the Southeastern Conference season.

Scores 25
Pungier, who broke into North Carolina State's starting lineup last week, scored 25 points—19 in the first half—as the Wolfpack routed Virginia 94-71 in an Atlantic Coast Conference test. Vanderbilt, with an 80-57 romp over Sewanee; and 6-foot-6 Chris Smith fired 19 points and grabbed 28 rebounds as VPI made it 3-0 in Southern Conference doings, 73-63 over The Citadel. The Citadel earlier whipped West Virginia, which has monopolized the conference championships for years.

In opening firing in the Southwest Conference race, Texas A&M got 29 points and 13 rebounds from Carroll Broussard in an 82-69 triumph over TCU; and Del Ray Mounts triggered Texas Tech from a 13-point deficit to a 70-68 upset of SMU, first Tech victory over the Mustangs in 13 years. Mounts had 21 points, 12 in the second half rally.

Temple (10-1) made it eight in a row, 101-69 over Scranton, behind Bruce Drysdale's 31 points, and Fred Moses had 31 points and Larry Jones 28 as Oklahoma City (7-4) thumped West Texas State 89-74.

Chuck Studley New Coach At Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Chuck Studley, bright young football coach who guided the 1960 University of Massachusetts squad to their best mark in 28 years, has changed to the University of Cincinnati.

Studley, 31, was given a three-year contract by Cincinnati directors Tuesday after Athletic Director George Smith and President Walter Langsam backed him for the job of head football coach.

Studley's first year with the Massachusetts Redmen, the team picked up a 7-2 mark and a share of the Yankee Conference championship.

Speedwise? "We ran 40 yards and Adderley, Mason and Casey finished so close they argued about it," Milt pointed out.

Any predictions? "I'm sure Herb will be a good one in pro football. The potential is there and I'm sure Coach Lombardi will bring it out," Milt added.

Adderley is also on the draft list of the New York Titans of the AFL. He's presently in Honolulu getting ready to play in the Hula Bowl Sunday and will start in the same backfield that carried the 7-0 victory in the Shrine game. The others are Tom Matie at quarterback, Halfback Mason and Wisconsin fullback Tom Wiesner.

"Jug" Earp is recuperating at Bellin Memorial Hospital from a heart attack he suffered Christmas Eve.

The onetime Packer great and Packer publicist is coming along good, Mrs. Earl said. He watched the Packer-Eagle game the next day and entered the hospital on Thursday. No visitors are allowed.

Ron Kramer and Jesse Whitten, the Packers' best golfers among the players, are among the entries in the first annual Pro Football Players' Golf Tournament in Hollywood, Fla., this week.

Molinas Vs. League

NBA Reserve Clause At Stake in Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—The unique, with an average of 37.4 points per game. Should Molinas win, the NBA reserve clause would be meaningless. Any attempt to settle with him out of court, officials feel, would only encourage other players who have been barred to follow suit.

The case is a $3,000,000 anti-trust action brought by Molinas against the NBA.

It was six years ago that Molinas, then 21, was barred from the NBA for betting on his own team, the Fort Wayne (now Detroit) Pistons.

"I'm ready for the trial," said Molinas. "I think I have a very good chance of winning."

Won About 1400
Molinas, who played for Columbia University, pleaded in his defense that he bet only on his team to win. He admitted he won about $400 and that he paid taxes on the winnings.

Molinas, now a lawyer, wants the NBA ban lifted and is asking $3,000,000 in damages. He has charged NBA President Maurice Podoloff and the eight teams in the league with acting in restraint of trade, a violation of the anti-trust law.

Molinas claims that because of the reserve clause, he is prohibited from dealing with any other team than the Pistons, and that he is being boycotted and blacklisted in the NBA.

"We haven't denied him a living in any other league," said Podoloff, pointing out that Molinas now is player-coach of Hazelton in the Eastern League. Molinas, in fact, is the leading scorer in the league.

Executive Sees 1961 as Critical Movie Year

Says Hollywood Has Ill-Timed Its Move for More Adult Films

BY JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Will 1961 be the year of decision for Hollywood and its apparent determination to make movies more adult than ever?

High industry sources talk off-ically in cliché-coated denials. But unofficially they are seriously worried about charges of the Roman Catholic bishops and influential Protestant and Jewish clergy-men.

One top studio executive sees 1961 as the most critical period in Hollywood since the early 20s when the Patty Arduke scandal almost killed off the then infant industry.

"The shock appeal of such raw films as 'Butterfly 8' and 'The Apartment' have brought millions at the boxoffice, and now we have 'Lolita' with us," he says.

Teen-Age Audience

The producer isn't against sex per se but believes that Hollywood has ill-timed its accent on adultery, homosexuality, dope and other frank screen themes.

"These are adult themes, but go to a movie house and try to find adults. The theaters are filled with impressionable teenagers. They're the bulk of the audience."

The executive started in the business as a theater owner and recounts a personal experience.

"My theater did a nice business on family pictures such as 'Andy Hardy' and the like. Then one day we got greedy and bought a shocking exploitation picture on marijuana. It did double the business our family pictures had done, so we booked more of the same."

Theater Closes

"It didn't take long for the shock appeal to wear off. Business dropped to nothing. Even worse, our cashier quit because her pastor had asked her to. We soon found that it became a major crisis just to hire a popcorn girl. Nice girls just didn't want to work for us."

"Finally, we lost so much money that we boarded up the theater—and last I heard it was still boarded up."

"Hollywood," says another executive, "is a cash register factory, not an art museum. We only give the public what it wants. If our pictures aren't good for kids, then it's up to the parents to keep their kids away from them."

Argentina Names Kennedy Man of Year

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy is Argentina's Foreign Man of the Year, the foreigner most often mentioned by the man in the street and his victory over Vice President Richard M. Nixon was designated the story of the year.

Choice of the man and story of the year is made by the Argentine Institute of Public Opinion, an independent research enterprise.

Municipalities Told of New Judicial Plan

Justice of the Peace on Way Out, League Says

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The day of the justice of the peace is waning, the League of Wisconsin Municipalities advised city and village governments today, as it explained the terms of the state judicial reorganization act which will take effect in a year.

The justice of tradition will be largely eliminated under the reorganization act taking effect on Jan. 1, 1962, as will the offices of police justice that have been established over the years in many cities to provide a local tribunal.

But cities at their option have the right to set up the office of "municipal justice of the peace" in their stead for the trying of municipal ordinance cases and the civil and criminal jurisdiction historically possessed by the justices of the peace.

Provision for Salary

Such municipal justices will serve terms of two years, as have the traditional justices, but the new law requires that they must be paid a salary in lieu of the crime fees and costs.

The League said the justices can be given jurisdiction as to make it likely that in some Wisconsin cities and villages the office can be justified on a fulltime basis.

It was explained that after Dec. 31, 1961, ordinary justices of the peace will have no criminal jurisdiction except to try the crimes of battery and disorderly conduct.

The gradual elimination of such offices is contemplated in the reorganization act which will set up a uniform system of county trial courts, with more judges in total than previously provided.

Rory Harrity, Starring in his first movie role, expects his performance will bring ribbing from the caustic Harvard Lampoon. Harrity was editor of the Lampoon during his years at Harvard.

TV Has Space Problems in New York City

Industry Grew Too Fast, Expansion Best in Hollywood

NEW YORK (AP)—Television grew up so fast it jumped in a little over a decade from infancy to almost overnight grew too big for its britches or, perhaps more accurately, its swaddling clothes.

Over the years, particularly in New York, the three networks have been trying to get television decently tailored—enough studios, stages and rehearsal space. The Hollywood TV facilities of network television have been magnificently expanded—one reason that it has looked as if Los Angeles would monopolize the production end of the industry as shows moved west.

Various Locations

In New York City where rents are high and space is at a premium, the networks have converted radio studios to TV by crowd-busting in cameras and other cumbersome equipment. They have rented and bought theaters for the specialty.

shows which use audiences. Rehearsals have been and are held in all sorts of places, from offices to rented banquet halls. Performers and crews have grumbled about the inconvenient, out-of-the-way locations of rehearsal halls.

While the New York facilities are still inadequate, they are gradually getting better. Each network either leases or owns two or three theaters for its network variety and audience-participation shows — Perry Como's, Garry Moore's, Ed Sullivan's, "The Price is Right," "What's My Line" and the Johnny Carson Show, for instance.

CBS Plans Center

NBC has two huge studios in Brooklyn which pretty well take care of their eastern-produced dramatic shows and specials. ABC has a center with five studios in midtown. CBS has augmented its headquarters studios with others in a remodeled meeting-hall building.

Now, however, CBS wants to bring under one roof seven studios and complete production facilities. If the plan goes through, the new building would be finished in 1964. At least this indicates the CBS still plans to produce shows in New York. And, perhaps, if New York's production facilities reach are high and space is at a point where they are on a par with those of Hollywood, we might see a return of those live dramas which some equipment. They have rented and bought theaters for the specialty.

No Compromise Discussed Over Slavery in 1860's

By BRUCE CATTON

Written for The Associated Press

Compromise is an unpopular word. It seems to mean that you are rather wishy-washy—you don't have the courage of your convictions, you won't dig in your heels for a final stand.

But we do need to remember that compromise is what enables democracy to work. It enables us to face up to questions which, left to themselves, would become explosive.

In 1860 nobody tried to find a compromise over the slavery issue—nobody seemed willing even to talk over the possibility of a compromise—and there was no compromise.

The Democrats, holding their convention in Charleston, S.C., promptly got into a dog-fight that wrecked the party beyond repair.

Offers Hope

Here was the party that offered the brightest hope for a solution, simply because it was the one truly national party at that time. It was strong in the North and the South alike; it embraced all shades of feeling in regard to slavery, and its leading candidate for the nomination, Sen. Stephen

A. Douglas, of Illinois, was eagerly trying to find a middle-of-the-road approach.

Douglas had the strange notion that the country had important things to do and that it ought to get on with the job without Ordinarily in the United States, a political convention gives opposing factions a chance to blow off steam. Instead of this, the 1860 Democratic convention built up an unendurable pressure. In the second of four articles, a famous historian explains how this exception to the rule prepared the path to war.

wasting all of its energies in the argument over slavery; he said quite frankly that he himself did not care whether slavery was voted up or down, just as long as it was somehow disposed of.

That was exactly Sen. Douglas's problem. He wanted a compromise approach at a time when nobody wanted to compromise. He was in an old-fashioned political fight, involving nothing much loftier than a struggle for party control; but he was also caught up in the fact that too many people had taken extreme positions and refused to hear any talk of compromise. Consider what the senator from Illinois was up against.

Want Declaration
Leaders from the cotton South wanted a flat declaration, in the party platform and from the lips of the candidate, in favor of the extreme pro-slavery position—slavery was untouchable, and the question of restraining or modifying the institution in any way must not even be discussed.

Douglas and the Northern Democrats would accept nothing of the kind. They wanted a broad statement of the kind which ordinarily is dear to the politician's heart—something that would mean almost anything anyone wanted it to mean, on the ground that if this problem could just be sidetracked for a few years it would eventually come down to manageable proportions. Under pressure from Southern pro-slavery extremists, they were also under pressure from Northern anti-slavery extremists. Somewhere between the extremes, they believed, the coming election could be won.

Usually, in such a situation, a political convention blows off steam for a time and then works something out. This time that proved impossible: instead of blowing off steam, this convention built up an unendurable pressure—and, in the end, broke squarely in half. The Northern half of the party nominated Sen. Douglas, and the Southern half nominated the Democrats had dropped in their laps.

Cavalry Gen. Phil Sheridan, a dashing figure in the Civil War, was depicted on his famous ride down the Shenandoah Valley in this artist's conception. Gen. Sheridan was credited with rallying his retreating Union army troops and turning defeat into victory.

Now another party took form—the Constitutional Union party, which wanted to preserve the Union and nominated John Bell of Tennessee, with a platform calling simply for reverence to the Constitution and the federal union—a creed to which almost any body could subscribe. And then the campaign got underway.

The campaign shed no light whatever, because nobody wanted to talk about the one shattering issue. Lincoln refused to make any speeches at all, on the ground that his position already was clear. Bell upheld the Constitution and expressed the hope that brothers would not quarrel. Breckinridge defied anyone to show that he had ever said one word against the Union and then lapsed into a silence as all-embracing as Lincoln's. Sen. Douglas did try to make a debate out of it; he made many speeches, the substance of them being that it would be absurd to break up the Union when there was more important work to do. Apparently nobody paid much attention.

In any case, neither the political conventions nor the campaign brought any real discussion of the underlying issue. There were many speeches and editorials, most of them consisting simply of denunciations of the opposition. Political marching clubs were formed, to parade and cheer and make music. Nowhere in the record of that 1860 campaign can you find any real effort by anybody to bring the terrible problem out into the open and explore the possibilities of a settlement.

Treaty Organization Postpones Meeting

ANKARA, Turkey (AP).—The annual ministerial meeting of the Central Treaty Organization—CENTO—scheduled for Feb. 1 has been indefinitely postponed, officials of the organization have announced.

Sources close to CENTO said the action was taken to give the new U.S. administration time to settle in office.

explored all of the angry talk, and Sen. Douglas—the only candidate who really got on the stump and tried to make a campaign of it—found that in the North he was run against Lincoln, and in the South against Breckinridge.

In the end, of course, Lincoln was elected, with a solid electoral majority and a solid minority of the popular vote. But the trouble now was that this election, with everything that had gone before, had simply brought things to a head instead of providing a solution for anything.

Port Finances Sound, Claims Fisher Firm

Milwaukee One of Best in Country, Income Rise Predicted

Milwaukee's General Mitchell airport is one of the soundest financial port operations in the U.S., says Leigh Fisher and Associates, San Francisco, Calif. The consulting firm was hired by Milwaukee County in 1959 to make a study of airport charges and financial policies.

(The Fisher firm also is the one which made the survey of air traffic and airports in the Fox Cities area, recommending a joint Outagamie-Winneshong County airport west of Neenah.)

If present General Mitchell field policies are continued, Milwaukee county can expect a profit from the operations, the firm indicated.

$400,000 by 1962
The consultants predicted that the county could expect a cash profit from airport operations, excluding interest costs on land and depreciation of improvements, of almost $400,000 by 1962.

This would be almost twice as much as in 1959. It would be more than the net revenue realized from the stadium annually.

Increased use of the field and higher income from landing fees, concession franchises and other rentals can be credited with the prospective increases in income, the consultants said.

The consultants also predicted a sharp rise in airport business in the next decade.

The number of passengers boarding planes here, which increased from 193,473 in 1953 to 366,938 in 1959 and was expected to hit 410,000 in 1960, will rise to 500,000 in 1962 and 790,000 in 1970, it was predicted.

Plane Flights
The number of departing plane flights, which rose from 20,591 in 1953 to 31,686 in 1959 and an estimated 33,000 in 1960, will be 41,600 in 1962 and 56,500 in 1970, the consultants estimated.

Total aircraft operations at the field were predicted at 211,000 by 1962, compared with 155,773 in 1959. Much of the increase would be due to air carrier movements, which may mount from 64,673 in 1959 to 90,000 by 1962.

To Your Good Health

Brisk Exercise, Reading May Counteract Sleeplessness

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
"Dear Doctor: I have been, examined by a few doctors and they tell me there is nothing wrong with me. My trouble is that I do not sleep and am tired all day. I go to bed tired and still cannot fall asleep. What can I do?—John W."

I don't, of course, know a Dr. Molner blessed thing about you, except what is in your letter. But let me guess.

You are a nervous type of individual. You don't do hard physical labor. You're a worrier.

When you go to bed (tired), you relax a bit physically, and before you know it, you have started to think about the things you did today, and the things you will have to do tomorrow — the decisions you will have to make, whether you ought to buy a new refrigerator now or wait another six months, and what somebody really meant by what he said at lunch.

You may not be unhappy: You may lie awake thinking about the good things that are going to happen to you — the money you are going to make, or a trip you have in mind, or how you are going to improve your business.

But, it's your mind that keeps whirling and buzzing. As a matter of fact, you might put it this way: You have an interesting mind, and an inquiring, probably worrying, mind.

You enjoy using your mind, your imagination and your worry cells. So you lie awake, and toss, and think.

What to do about it? Well, if you got a job loading cement blocks onto trucks, or swinging a sledge all day, or some really heavy physical labor like that, you'd be physically tired enough so you'd go to sleep fast enough at night.

But obviously, that's not a practical solution for us in these days of desk jobs, automation, and positions that eat up our nervous energy but not our physical energy.

Get Activity
For substitutes, there are such things as brisk walking, shopwork in the basement, bowling, swimming, gymnastics and the like. Get physically tired.

Do not drug yourself with an entire evening of sitting and watching television, and then expect to be ready for bed. You may get bored and tired, but you won't get tired in the sense of having used up energy. So spend two or three hours on some engrossing hobby. Stamps, whittling, model-making, it doesn't matter. Or spend the evening in some game that requires tense attention, whether it's contract bridge or cribbage.

A warm glass of milk at bedtime helps many people relax. A warm bath also often helps. After that, if you climb in bed and still find your mind racing so fast you can't sleep, I strongly recommend some "hard" reading — not a murder mystery or a western — but history, a technical book, or whatever. Read something that demands all your attention. Pret-

Newly Merged Soo Line Names Chief Officers

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — G. Allen MacNamara Tuesday was named chairman of the board and Leonard H. Murray president and chief executive officer for the Soo Line Railroad Co., formed by a merger of the old Soo Line and two other lines.

Both top officials of the firm are from Minneapolis. MacNamara was president of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie and Murray of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic.

Joseph D. Bond, Minneapolis, becomes executive vice president. He was vice president of the old Soo Line.

The merger created the 19th largest railroad in the country from a track mileage standpoint, with 4,800 miles of line serving Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Upper Michigan and Montana.

Thomas H. Beckley was named secretary and Oliver J. Andersen treasurer, both from Minneapolis. Also merged was Wisconsin Cen-ty soon you'll begin to tire — and go to sleep.

Along the way, you'll get some useful reading done.

I'm trying, you see, to steer you away from sleeping pills. The world is changing. We don't live the way our fathers and grandfathers did. We aren't as physically tired. But we can tire ourselves, for sleep purposes, with hard mental effort, too. Try it, please.

A NEW IDEA IN BREAD!

...and wouldn't you know...a woman dreamed it up!

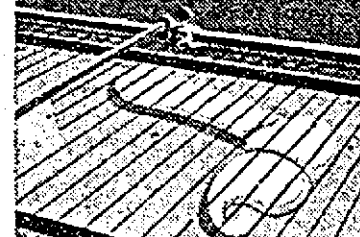

A simple curl does it! Result? A better tasting, fresher staying loaf...made better by a woman's idea! You see, Cobb's employs a woman as home economist. She runs tests for freshness, texture and flavor of Cobb's Bread. One day she said to us — "Why don't we try curling our bread?"

"What for?" we retorted. "To make it prettier?"

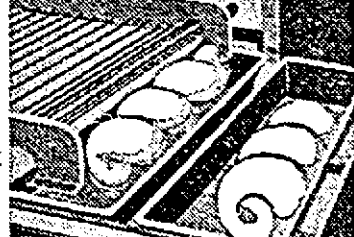

"No," she said... "to make it taste better and stay fresher."

Well, we tried it...and...she was right! We found curling the dough stretches the bread-cells, makes the bread more tender. Presses out air bubbles, too...to keep the bread fresher. Gives it a smoother, more even texture. And the extra baking gives it a better flavor.

So now every loaf of Cobb's is tender-curl. No, we haven't changed the fine Cobb's recipe. Everything's the same except the curl. Yes, even bread can be made better...with a woman's touch. Try a loaf. You'll say it's the finest bread yet!

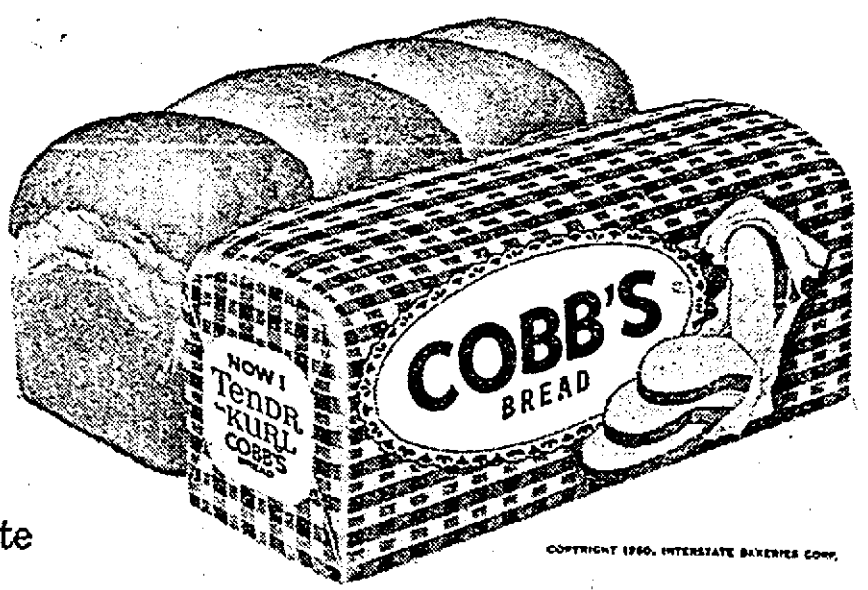

This is the way we curl our bread. At first we did it by hand. Then we designed a machine to do it so we could curl lots of loaves. Now everybody can have tender-curl Cobb's Bread.

Here's the tender-curl loaf ready for the oven. Don't confuse tender-curling with harsh twisting. They may look alike but the new tender-curl Cobb's Bread will win your taste test.

Look for COBB'S in the blue-and-white gingham wrapper...

Water Meter Policy Urged For Village

Too Many Claims Of Overcharges At Little Chute

LITTLE CHUTE—The adoption of a stern policy regarding water meters and bills was urged at the meeting of the Village Board Tuesday night.

Trustee Robert Vanden Boogart said that the meters are too accurate to have the number of overcharge claims that the village has been faced with recently.

In the past, adjustments have been made frequently, with the property owner getting a refund when the water bill was excessive for a three-month period.

Full Amount Vanden Boogart pointed out that when a meter is tested and found to be in proper working condition the village should do nothing but charge the full amount used.

He explained that a leak somewhere in a home could run for several days before being detected and fixed by the resident. However, the amount of water used would not show up until the next reading.

In other action, a special three-month insurance policy to cover tax collections against burglary was purchased.

The building and grounds committee reported that all ice rinks were in good condition and some work on the lighting of the rinks was planned for this week.

It was reported that work is progressing on the new sewage disposal plant and after the regular meeting last night, trustees selected the type of brick wanted for the exterior.

Board of Education Favors KHS Addition

Seek Meeting With Common Council to Discuss State Unit's Recommendations

KAUKAUNA—The Board of Education, after being utilized for teaching, are being furnished with two plans, one calling for making the present high school into a junior high and constructing a new high school building. The state report suggested adding 20 teaching at the existing site thus making it suitable for housing grades seven through 12.

Besides regular classrooms the new building would house a double unit gym with showers, lockers, lunch facilities, expansion of administrative offices and other necessary auxiliaries.

The report also recommended acquisition of 30 acres of land in the southwest side of the city for future elementary or junior high needs or possibly both.

Although the report does not go into cost of the proposed addition, it is expected to run almost $1 million. The school district has a residue borrowing power of approximately one and one-third million dollars, indicates the state report.

Other Discussion In line with the addition, school board members discussed the necessary relocation of the athletic field, securing private properties on Island Street, east of the high school and how to control traffic.

School commissioners felt many questions would have to be answered with a joint meeting with the council the only feasible solution since the council must approve school board action and the board must know council intentions.

All spoke in favor of adding to the high school and felt the building program must be accelerated. A discussion was held on furnishing lights for the athletic field, but no action was taken since this would involve additional expense which should not be added when the school itself was of prime importance.

In the American League Elmer Jobs posted a 225 count while Joe Van Cuyk rapped a 619 and William Van Hout rolled a 584.

Council Takes No Action on School Report

Planning Unit Will Study Request for Rezoning Property

KAUKAUNA—The Common Council Tuesday placed on file a resolution from the Board of Education which favored adding to the high school at its existing location rather than build a new structure and utilize the existing building for a junior high.

No action was taken on a request from the board for an early meeting to discuss the state report which recommended the addition.

An offer to furnish the city with a grader and snow plow at a rental rate of $12 per hour with a guarantee of $200 from the Van Daalwyk Construction Co. was referred to the Board of Public Works for study and recommendation.

A request from Standard Oil to have property at the southwest corner of Hyland Avenue and DuCharme Street rezoned from light industrial to heavy industrial was referred to the Planning Commission for recommendation.

The oil firm indicated intentions of building a wholesale storage bulk plant at the location. Routine monthly reports were approved, operators licenses issued and letters of application for work with the city placed on file.

The crisis in Laos and the break of U.S. diplomatic relations with Cuba were background factors tending to increase interest in stocks such as steels and rails which benefit from increased military activity.

Rep. Thomson Introduces Bill In New Congress

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON—Rep. Vernon W. Thomson of the 3rd Wisconsin Congressional District celebrated his first day in Congress today by introducing a bill permitting the free flow of fluid milk in interstate commerce.

The former Badger State governor expressed the hope that this measure which last year was sponsored by all members of the Wisconsin delegation, but never approved, might meet a more favorable fate in this Congress.

The congressman's 14-year-old son, Tom Thomson, sat on the House floor with his father during the opening session of Congress and reported that he was "much impressed" by ceremonies. He will attend public school tomorrow at McLean, Va., a suburb in which the congressman and his wife have purchased a home.

State C of C President Sees Stable Economy

J. H. Fennema Says 1960 Output Was 'Favorable'

MADISON (AP)—The head of the State Chamber of Commerce says he expects Wisconsin's economy to remain stable or perhaps decline slightly during the first two quarters of 1961.

During the third quarter there should be some improvement in the consumer goods industries, followed by marked improvement by the end of the year, J. H. Fennema of Rhinelander, president of the chamber, said in a statement.

Improvement in the field of heavy manufacturing and durable goods, upon which the economy of southeastern Wisconsin relies heavily, probably won't begin until sometime during the fourth quarter of the year, Fennema said.

Generally Favorable

The statement described business conditions during 1960 as generally favorable. After pushing to a record output during the second quarter, business activity eased off slightly during the latter part of the year.

Fennema said economic activity for 1960 started on a rising note, then was hampered by the steel strike.

The chamber executive noted that the principal question now is the direction that future economic developments will take. He said there are two positions — continuation of the current situation of "limited prosperity" for several months with a gradual advance in the late spring or summer and continuing throughout 1961, or, a recession reflecting further inventory adjustments and related developments.

"Current prospects favor the first of these alternatives, with the continuation of a limited prosperity situation for a few months, and then a gradual improvement," Fennema said, adding, "the possibilities of a recession, however, must be recognized."

Lawrence Biggest Private Coed College in State

Lawrence College ranks first in the state in enrollment among private coeducational institutions granting only liberal arts degrees, according to figures released by the University of Wisconsin Institutional Studies Division.

Beloit College and St. Norbert College are next with 972 and 950 full time credit students. Lawrence has 982 full time credit students for the first semester.

The university study lists 18 private institutions granting liberal arts degrees with Marquette University having the largest enrollment, 7,746. Alverno and Mount Mary, both strictly girls' schools, also rank above Lawrence. Alverno's enrollment is listed at 1,111 and Mount Mary's at 1,103.

The other 12 colleges in this category are Cardinal Stritch, Carroll, Edgewood, Holy Family, Lakeland, Milton, Milwaukee-Downer, Northland, Northwestern, Ripon, St. Francis and Viterbo.

Alien Address Reports Due During Month

All aliens who were in the United States on Jan. 1, 1961, are required to report their address this month, according to Richard L. Webb, officer in charge of the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Address reports are required by law even if the alien has not changed his address since the last report, Webb said, and willful failure to comply with the requirements may lead to serious consequences.

Address report forms are available at all post offices.

The annual alien address report program does not apply to aliens here in diplomatic status nor to those who are accredited to the United Nations. The parent or legal guardian of alien children under 14 must submit an address report for them.

King Driver Pays $150 For Hit and Run Crash

WAUPACA—Carl J. Erickson, 62, King, was fined $150 by Police Justice George Whalen Tuesday for leaving the scene of an accident Saturday.

Police said Erickson fled after the car he was driving struck the parked auto belonging to Jerald Orr, route 3, near Jefferson and Union streets about 5:55 p.m.

Erickson's auto hit the Orr vehicle so hard, police said, it pushed it 25 feet south on Jefferson and onto the sidewalk.

Erickson was traced through a piece of chrome and chips of paint at the scene.

Man Who Would Lead Invasion of Cuba Running for Senate

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A 53-year-old Houston contractor, who says he would personally lead an armada of shrimp boats to fight communism in Cuba if necessary, Lyndon B. Johnson, said he has announced for the U. S. senate.

W. P. Holland, one of nearly a dozen candidates in the special election for the senate seat to be vacated by vice president-elect Lyndon B. Johnson, said he knows many shrimp boat operators and believes 50 armed men could be put on each of the 14,000 shrimp boats he said operate in the Gulf of Mexico.

Legislature Plan Shows Progress

Little Need for Pressure In Reapportionment Move

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The movement to reapportion the state legislature is moving ahead so satisfactorily that there is little need for Democratic party pressure on the matter, a state Democratic committee leader reported here Monday. The report came from Thomas Miglausch of Waukesha, Second District party captain, who is chairman of a special advisory committee on reapportionment named two months ago by the state party committee.

Miglausch referred to the interim Legislative Council committee report, approved by Republican Council committee is "almost to cans and Democrats, that would reshuffle the legislature to give urban districts a proportionately larger representation, in line with the urbanization of the state shown by 1950 census returns.

Some Dissent There were indications that Miglausch's report might have provoked some dissents, but he cut off discussion by suggesting that his special committee would have another meeting to examine reapportionment proposals.

But Peter Dugal of Cadott, party leader for the Ninth Congressional district, had time to object that the suggested congressional redistricting of the Legislative Council committee is "almost to Such a reapportionment would require Johnson either to change his legal residence, or prepare to fight Thomson for the congressional seat in a district that has shown a strong Republican preference historically.
